In the over time period Wasco scored five points to Moro's three to take the contest.

The Moro team looked like midgets among the towering Dufur team but by putting on one of the best exhibitions of basketball seen here in a long while won by a score of 23 to 18.

The game was close throughout, the score being tied four times during the opening half. Dufur pulled ahead one basket at half time to lead 11 to 9. A determined second half attack however gave the Huskies the lead which they held to the final whistle.

Th Moro basketball girls defeated the Wasco girls by a score of 25 to 14 Friday night. The Wasco team showed much improvement. The girls led in the scoring in the first half of the game, but the Moro girls came back with a lot of pep and good team work in the last half.

Federal Relief For Students Next

EUGENE, Ore.—Federal relief funds are expected to be made available to employ needy students at higher educational institutions in Oregon, it was announced here by W. J. Kerr, chancellor of higher education, who has received wires from both Senator Charles L. McNary and Senator Frederick Steiwer stating that there is reasonable assurance that the plan would be put into effect.

Although official details of the proposal have not been received, it is understood that from $5,000,000 to $7,000,000 of federal relief funds will be made available and will be apportioned to the various states. Part of the fund, it is understood, will be used to employ needy students already at the institutions, and part to give employment to those not now enrolled.

The plan is said to call for a maximum of 30 hours of employment a week at about 30 cents an hour. Just what Oregon's allotment will be is not known.

First information of the plan as proposed by the federal bureau of education was received in a wire from William A. Schoenfeld, dean of agriculture at Oregon State college, who was in Washington on experiment station and other agricultural business for Oregon. While there he also worked on the relief project for

Dairymen Hope For Control Plan

Removal of the minimum limit in the hog section of the corn-hog control plan, establishment of farmer exemptions under the hog processing tax, and outline of the tentative plan for dairy production control are late developments under the AAA, according to a review of the agricultural officials at Oregon State college.

The recent address by secretary Wallace on "The Dairy Dilemma" contained the first authoritative explanation of the kind of production control contemplated for dairymen by the AAA. Even it is still tentative, however, as to detail; hence there is still time for it to be carefully considered by dairymen throughout the country looking toward possible changes or additions before the final contract forms are arrived at.

The plan proposed by Wallace calls for an individual voluntary farm allotment amounting to 85 per cent of the average annual production of each dairyman over the past three years. Thus, cooperating dairymen would agree to reduce production 15 per cent under the base period.

For such reduction, to be made by any plan they saw fit to adopt, they would be compensated by adjustment payments to be financed from a processing tax on butterfat which would reach a maximum of five cents per pound, with a compensatory tax on oleomargarine. As substantial an advance payment as possible would be made to each dairy farmer soon after his contract is accepted.

Secretary Wallace promises to keep the plan as flexible as possible so as to permit expansion of the industry as fast as consumer demand warrants. There are other angles of the plan about which more will be announced later.

The change on the corn-hog plan allows any grower of hogs to join and receive benefit payments in return for reducing his production by at least 25 per cent. Previously an average of three litters a year was the bottom limit necessary before a man could sign a hog contract. This change is expected to increase the total Oregon sign-up very materially, as most hog raisers in this state are relatively small producers.

The change in the hog processing tax allows each farmer an annual exemption of 300 pounds of pork product he sells or trades from slaughtering of hogs of his own raising. This applies only where his total sales of products in any marketing year do not exceed 1000 pounds.

and five inches deep. The deep plowing showed a fraction of a bushel better yields but it didn't amount to much. In 1933, however, there was a remarkable difference. The deep plowed plots yielded 22.6 bushels while the shallow plowed plots made 15.5 bushels. Whether this was sort of crop or weather accident or whether it indicates that long continued shallow plowing will decrease the production of wheat land cannot be known for a few years.
