

OREGON STATE NEWS ITEMS OF INTEREST

Brief Resume of Happenings of the Week Collected for Our Readers

Glendale—The Clare Lumber company's sawmill, 15 miles east of Glendale, is starting up with enough orders to keep it in operation several months.

Albany — Disregarding petitions signed by more than 600 persons, the city council of Albany has gone on record in favor of a state liquor store at Albany.

Dallas—Plans for constructing a second mill at Dallas are announced by the Willamette Valley Lumber company. The new mill will be a small log mill with a capacity of 10,000 feet per hour.

Pendleton — For the purpose of making the Pendleton municipal airport a government auxiliary airport by expending $40,000 or $50,000 of CWA funds, plans are being discussed by the city council.

Marshfield—Orders totaling about 3,000,000 feet of fir railroad ties are understood to have been placed with the Coos Bay lumber mills. The ties are being accumulated to be shipped in the near future to China.

Medford — The Medford Production Credit association, embracing Coos, Curry, Josephine, Douglas and Jackson counties, has been formed, with Colonel Gordon Voorhies as president.

Jefferson—Two 4-foot holes dug by W. B. Vaughn of Millersburg, in Linn county, to receive walnut trees are bubbling with natural gas. The few inches of water collected in the holes percolates like a teakettle on a stove.

Medford—A county planning commission whose duties shall be to consider and recommend future projects in which federal, state or county funds are expended for relief work has been formed by the Jackson county court.

Vale—Dr. J. J. Sarazin, who has served on the board of directors of the Owyhee Irrigation district more than 25 years, has been reelected president of the district. He has served almost continuously since the district was organized.

The Dalles — Immediate payment of a 25 per cent dividend will be made to depositors of the defunct First National Bank of The Dalles. Of the $332,924 to be disbursed, $250,000 or more will go to residents of The Dalles and contiguous territory.

Pendleton — A petition against the plan of Commissioner Collier of the bureau of Indian affairs for changing the system of leasing lands of the Umatilla reservation has been sent to Washington. It is signed by 300 Indians, most of them full-bloods.

Thirty-Year-Old Cactus Blooms
Dayton—A Christmas cactus more than 30 years old and measuring more than 58 inches across, belonging to Mrs. Dale Hadley of Dayton, is in full bloom.

Hop Tract Planted
Dayton — Fifteen acres of Willamette-river bottom land on the J. A. McFarlane and Sons farm in the Pleasantdale neighborhood is being set to hops. Eight men are employed in the work.

Hubbard Men Plant Hops
Hubbard — Another hopyard has been set out near Hubbard. Elmer Stauffer and Lester Will have put 14 acres of the Scholl estate near East Hubbard into early cluster hops. The field adjoins their farms.

Logging To Be Resumed
Silverton — Logging operations are to be resumed Monday by the Silver Falls Timber company. The logging ceased for the winter in December. Buckers and fallers are already in camp and the remainder of the crew is scheduled to leave Sunday.

Ancient Walnuts Cut Down
Walterville—Dan and Ray Baugh of Thurston recently cut down two walnut trees believed to be more than 100 years old. Pioneers harking back 40 years remember them as big trees then, and at the time of their removal they were nearly four feet in diameter at the base.

Hospital Work Rushed
Waldport—Dr. F. Gill is having his hospital rushed to completion, so that it will be ready to receive patients soon. The doctor is quoted as saying that the work will make more than a score of trips here within the next two months, so that it is imperative that he have the hospital operating as quickly as possible.

Beans To Be Grown
Rainier — The Ray-Maling company of Hillsboro has contracted with members of the Rainier Growers' association for the growing of 70 acres of Kentucky Wonder beans in this vicinity with a guaranteed price of $4.50 a ton. The contract calls for 210 tons, but it is believed they may handle more if the crop is heavy.

be no new campaign. Those who desire to join will go to their county wheat control association where old blanks are being adapted for the new use.

"The allotment plan provides a measure of crop insurance and price insurance," points out Chester C. Davis, administrator of the farm act. Contract signers are assured of their allotment payments even though the crop is a failure. The wheat contract calls for making full adjustment payments on the 1934 and 1935 crops, if prices on these crops do not reach parity. The payment already made, and the remaining one of 8 cents a bushel less local administrative costs, are for the 1933 crop."

New signers will be eligible for this remaining 1933 payment but they will have to eliminate any excess seeded acreage above the 85 per cent of past production allowed in the contract covering the 1934 crop. The method of bringing this excess acreage down is left to the individual, but it must be accomplished in advance of the pre-harvest inspection.

Average farm price of wheat in January was 69.4 cents a bushel, while the parity price as computed by the government, needed to give farmers a fair exchange value, was $1.02 1/2 cents a bushel.

The government reports that other wheat exporting countries are taking steps to comply with the international reduction agreement, and that the United States will take whatever action is necessary to make the 15 per cent reduction this country agreed to.

HI-WAYS TO HEALTH by ADA E. MAYNE OREGON DAIRY COUNCIL

During the Lenten season when housewives are anxious to plan meatless meals and at the same time are looking for ways to put flavor and zest into the meal, cheese is the answer. Cheese has many nutritional qualities which recommend its frequent use but becomes more important during lent, because it can substitute for meat in the diet.

Eggs, too, are important in lenten cookery and the combination of eggs and cheese form a basis for many savory dishes. The secret of success in cooking egg and cheese dishes, is to cook slowly and at moderate, even heat.

In almost countless ways eggs and cheese can be used in the main dish of any meal. For example, baked eggs and cheese, cheese souffle, cheese omelets, or a cheese fondue are all ways of using eggs and cheese in combination. Another good variation is a baked noodle ring served with a delicious cheese sauce; shirred eggs on spinach with enough sharp cheese for flavor makes a good luncheon or supper dish. Recipes for these nutritious, as well as economical lenten dishes are:

Cheese Noodle Ring
One fourth cup of melted butter
Three cups cooked noodles
Three eggs, separated
Stir the butter into the freshly cooked noodles. Add the well beaten egg yolks, and fold in the whites, beaten stiff. Pour into a ring mold, set in a pan of water, and bake in a moderate oven (350 deg.) for 20 minutes, or until a knife thrust into it will come out clean. Unmold on a hot platter and pour the following cheese sauce over it.

Cheese Sauce
Two cups milk
Four tablespoons flour
Four tablespoons butter
One-half teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
One cup finely cut cheese
Melt the butter in the top of a double boiler and add the flour, salt and pepper. Blend thoroughly. Pour in the cold milk and stir constantly until thick. Cover and cook without stirring two minutes. Add cheese and pour over ring.

Shirred Eggs on Spinach
One pound spinach, chopped fine
One and one-half cups dry bread crumbs
One-half teaspoon salt
Pepper
Five eggs
One-half cup grated sharp cheese
Heat the spinach, stir and cook for about 2 minutes. Add the salt, one cup of bread crumbs, and pepper if desired. Spread the spinach in 2 inch layers in a buttered baking dish or pan. Break the eggs on top of the spinach, and cover with the remaining crumbs which have been mixed with the cheese. Bake for about 15 minutes in a moderate oven (350 deg.) or until the eggs are well set and the crumbs brown. Serve at once.
