4-H Club News

The Katty Kamp Kookery Klub went to the Cottonwood bridge Saturday. Millard Meizer was the only member absent. Each member prepared one dish for the meal.

Each person washed his own dishes, dried them and put them away. After that was done a business meeting was held. The rest of the time was spent in playing games and dipping minnows from a little pond. They were successful in catching eight minnows for our school aquarium. Several members enjoyed taking turns in fishing in the John Day river.

A summary of the organization of 4-H Clubs for 1934 in the county under the direction of Willy Knighten and Perry Johnston, county officials, proves that sixty standard clubs including domestic sciences, health, live stock, agriculture, horticulture and forestry projects, are registered and have commenced to carry out their purpose. A total of 564 boys and girls of Sherman county who are eligible to enter into 4-H clubs are participating in this work.

In individual projects, cooking has the greatest number of participants with a total of 126 from sixteen cooking groups in the county. Forestry, introduced this year for the first time in Sherman county has proved to be a very successful project for it is second largest of all the projects having 99 members comprising six different clubs in the county. With seven clubs and 55 members, sewing comes third in line for amount of members interested in different 4-H projects.

These clubs are under the supervision of capable leaders, numbering 51 in all, who are interested in these 4-H club children and who are giving a part of their time to see that their club members are receiving correct information and will finish 100 per cent.

Wednesday, March 21, the High School Cooking group decided to postpone their meeting for the purpose of attending the county-wide Homemakers Meeting which was sponsored by the county at the courthouse on that day.

Many useful and practical ideas were obtained in reference to management of the home, regulation of diets and daily habits. The club feel it was worth their time to attend such a meeting. A meeting of the local Homemakers Club took place at the Moro City Park, on March 26. The park was selected as a suitable location for a picnic which the club had planned previously to hold on this day. The meeting consisted of very little business as most of the time was spent in eating the pot luck lunch the girls had brought. The president, Irma Morgan, brought a lovely angel food cake as a special treat for the club.

The close of the meeting came at a very appropriate period, when all of the food was devoured, and the girls are planning to have another such meeting in the near future.

The Jolly Cookers met at the home of Mrs. Stephens which is the leader. Betty Jeanne Vintin and Lois Meizer demonstrated making cream of tomato soup. Which they served to the girls. After we were done with our soup Mrs. Stephens treated us with ice cream and little wafers. Our next meeting Jafie French and Lois Meizer will demonstrate making a vegetable salad.

The Kent Calf Club No. 2 met at the home of Frank von Borstel, Sunday March 25th, with five members present. A motion was carried to have our leader write to John Fairchild and Billy Alsop to see if they would attend our meetings and take part in our club. Otherwise they would be dropped. They haven't attended a meeting so far, and they have none of their literature and report cards, and it will spoil our chance of a 100 percent club.

The boys were tried out in judging Beef Type Cattle and Hogs but not to the satisfaction of the leader. He discovered they had not studied their Beef Judging pamphlets. It was decided to judge stock at the next four meetings, each one to judge an animal and at the end of the four judgments such members points are to be added up. The 3 getting the highest score are to be the club judging team. The next meeting will be at the W. C. Helyer ranch on April 8th. All members are urged to be present at this meeting, and we would like for our parents to take part in our meetings.

Friday March 23rd at the home of our leader Mrs. Perry Johnston. We made plans for a hike and picnic to be held soon.

Monday March 26 we held another meeting at Mrs. Johnston's home. There was a demonstration of quick breads. We decided to meet regularly on Monday instead of Wednesday. Also voted to have a penny drill each meeting.

We girls of the Grass Valley High School Cooking Club had a pleasant surprise when we met Monday, Mrs. von Borstel was present to demonstrate the making of an Angel Food cake. We were each given a piece to test, but I noticed most of the girls forgot about the testing part because their pieces too suddenly disappeared. Boy, but it was delicious.

Koek and Mrs. Clifford Rowe were visitors, also the grade school cooking club.

Eunice Noyes and Greta Russell's demonstration of a vegetable salad was postponed until the next meeting.

The G. V. H. S. Sewing Club was organized two weeks ago. Officers chosen are: President, Dorothy Olds; vice president, Eunice Noyes; secretary, Phyllis Dickson. Tuesday was chosen as our sewing day. Mrs. Pauline Wilcox is our leader.

The Chick-a-dee Chicken Club met March 13 for its first meeting. Its officers are Robert Mitchell, president Virginia Helyer, vice president, and Bertha Helyer, secretary.

Merrill Sather and Eugene Norton were put on the reporting committee and Millard Howell and Bertha Helyer are arranging program, by-laws and constitution.

We met March 21 for our second meeting. Club songs were omitted on account of all being too bashful to lead. The president is to be song leader for future meetings and the secretary is to furnish a list of songs for the members that didn't have them.

The Chick-a-dees met for their 3rd meeting March 27 all members present. The constitution and by-laws were accepted and the president approved Virginia Helyer to report on "How to feed for egg production," and Catherine von Borstel to report on "Why grit is fed to chickens."

Sunday forenoon the Camp Cookers boys went to a canyon five miles south of Kent for dinner. We got down there about nine o'clock so some of us went up on top a big cliff and rolled rocks down the hill until about 11 o'clock then we started dinner and found out that we didn't have any of the things that we were supposed to cook so all we had was a salad, cake, coffee and dry bread.

After dinner we went up to Luther Davis' home. He was sick and could not be with us on our trip. We had the business meeting up there. We named our club the Hungry Eleven. After the meeting we departed for home where we arrived about 1:30.

The Cooking III Club met last Wednesday at the home of Annie Laurie Haynes, for a demonstration on luncheons. Annie Laurie and Levinia Barnett were on the demonstration committee. All of the members were present and a pleasant meeting was held. These same busy girls held another meeting at Mrs. Dunlap's home for a breakfast Sunday morning at nine. Maxine Plummet and Helen Wilson demonstrated Waffles. For roll call several of the girls answered with interesting articles or talks about cooking problems and how to solve them. The next meeting will be Thursday afternoon.

Edna McKay and Helen Sather will be the demonstration team.

The Clothing III Club met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Davis. The project was discussed and the girls are to start work immediately. We are looking forward to a very successful year. The meetings will be held every Wednesday at the gymnasium where the Auxiliary sewing machines are located.

More trees were received Thursday for the Forestry Club. The three varieties were Black Locust, Mountain Ash and Russian Olive. Nearly all of the members took at least five more and some took as many as twenty. There seems to be more interest in this club than was expected when it was organized. Everyone is enthused about the forests to be. This enthusiasm seems to be contagious and has attracted two more members, Eugene Norton and Phyllis Haynes-Margaret Dunlap.

The Kent high school cooks, the Merry Makers, met at the school house March 23 in what proved to be another interesting meeting.

The meeting was called to order by our president, Clarice Mitchell, after which the regular order of business was followed.

The members of our club decided to give a banquet for our fathers and mothers sometime in the near future. Of course this will prove our cooking ability, that is if we have any (and let's hope we have as we want our banquet to be known as a success.)

The members of our club are also planning on giving an afternoon tea at an undecided date as yet.

Evelyn Davis and Virginia Helyer were appointed by the president as a committee of two to decide on refreshments for the banquets. Phoebe Lyons and Clarice Mitchell will plan refreshments for the afternoon tea.

At the close of the meeting a vegetable salad demonstration was given by Bertha and Virginia Helyer.

Our next meeting will be held March 30 at the home of Clarice Mitchell where Evelyn Davis and Clarice Mitchell will prove to us that many good dishes can be made from eggs.

Virginia Helyer.

Gee! After learning all about canning (anyway we think we know all about it) we can hardly wait until fruit season to try our skill.

Our club held its second meeting at the school house with all members present under the leadership of Mrs. W. A. Young.

Anna gave her report on Fruit Spoilage, and we hope it will do some good when we start using our knowledge. The next topic will be Kinds of Fruit It Will Pay Us to Can which was assigned to Phyllis Haynes and we are looking forward to this talk from her.

Our singing quartet aren't very well organized yet, believe it or not, they are going to be. At least that's our hopes.

Anna Sather was appointed to make the by-laws for our club.

Our next meeting will be next Tuesday at the school house.

A meeting of the Sunny Slope Forestry club was opened Wednesday p. m. March 21, in due form by Barbara Belshe, president. For our next meeting Miss Kruger asked each of us to give a report on the wild life of the forests. Clinton Kessinger is to report on the wild life of our local community. The meeting was adjourned and for recreation Raymond led us in several yells.

Since having planted our trees we have constructed an irrigation system with the aid of Mr. Homer Belshee. We can now water every tree without lifting a bucket of water with the exceptions of four or five trees. We have also added two or more trees to our Sunny Slope forest.

Winifred Belshee.
