

OREGON STATE NEWS (OF GENERAL INTEREST)

Brief Resume of Happenings of the Week Collected for Our Readers

The Rogue river is expected by fishermen to reach a new low stage this summer unless unseasonal rains occur. It has never been so low at this time of year.

Klamath Falls—Total leases of $280 acres on the Clear Lake reservoir have been awarded to Dan Fallman, Klamath county sheepman, whose bid was $1600 for the year.

Seo—Farmers in the Rodgers Mountain region, in the Seo district, and elsewhere in the adjacent foothills, report losses of lamb, due to coyotes. Poultry farms are also suffering.

Tillamook—The application of the Tillamook county court for a 1WA grant of $97,400 to build a road up the Wilson river to salvage fire-damaged timber will soon be forwarded to Washington.

Bend—A fossilized fish, a million or so years old, has been found in the rocks near the new agency reservoir at Bend, Malheur county. It looks like a trout and was four feet underground.

Bend—Five teachers are to be added to the Bend school staff the coming year. Four are in the grade schools. The school board has decided to increase teachers' salaries by an average of 7 per cent.

Pendleton—The Elk's building at Pendleton has been bought, under mortgage foreclosure, for $13,000. The mortgage on the building was for $60,000. The Elks will probably lease the building.

Baker—William Wright Chandler, pioneer resident of Baker county, is dead at the age of 86 years. He was one of the first settlers at Baker and was employed in the construction of the first schoolhouse here.

Hermiston—Sheep shearing in Umatilla county has begun. Wages for shearers this year are 25 per cent higher than last year. They are 10 cents and board. A good clip is expected because of the open winter and ample grass.

Tillamook—Ducks are reported flying in by thousands and grazing off the tidal pasture lands of Tillamook county, covering 20 to 30 acres per farm in some cases. Federal assistance to control the damage will be sought.

Eugene—The open winter and spring have been fine for deer and elk in the Cascade mountains, according to Harry G. Hayes, a veteran trapper of the McKenzie district. Grass has grown all winter, and the animals are rolling fat.

Central Point—A 10 per cent dividend for holders of commercial accounts in the defunct Central Point State bank has been declared. Thus far, commercial depositors have received 25 per cent, and savings depositors 45 per cent.

Baker—The revelation that there are approximately 50 school children in Baker who need medical attention has been brought before the Baker county chapter of the Red Cross. The majority involve poor eyesight, adenoids or bad tonsils.

Milton—Bruce Shangle, prominent resident of Milton, has filed for the Democratic nomination for state senator from Umatilla county after having been urged to do so for some weeks past. There will be a complete Democratic legislative ticket in the county.

Salem—County courts of the Willamette valley, representing the area lying within the scope of the Willamette Valley Flood Control association, will underwrite the cost of a survey, which is to be presented to the federal government with a petition for an appropriation.

Dayton—Fourteen persons, nine of them women, are employed at the Dayton dehydrating plant, where one ton of locally grown carrots are dried a day. Potato-drying will be resumed Monday. Orders have been received from Alaska mining firms through resumption of gold operations in the north.

La Grande—E. Jacobson, 79, went on the pension role of the Union Pacific, April 1, having completed 51 years of active service on the railroad. He is the only living member of the crew which brought the first Union Pacific train into La Grande, in July, 1884, which is to be very prominently celebrated this year and in which he will play an important role.

Hops Bring 25 to 26 Cents.—Mount Angel—Hops are moving at 25 cents. John J. Roberts company purchased 125 bales of John Morely, and Williams & Hart 167 bales of Butte Creek orchards at that price. T. A. Reiling sold 29 bales at 26 cents to E. Clemens Horst company.

Wyman John French.

March 14 Mr. Knighten organized a 4-H Cooking Club I at Wasco which is comprised of 7th and 8th grade girls under the leadership of Cathryn Johnson.

There are seven girls in the club and they are divided into two groups each group having an electric plate to cook on.

The girls elected are Viola Lundy, president; Catherine Fridley, vice president; Beryl Sheets, secretary treasurer and Margaret McDermid reporter.

At their meeting on March 30, they chose a name which is "The Little Housewives."

The first meeting was held on March 30th, at the high school and both groups made what was suggested in the second project.

Due to an assembly they cooked their first project at home and gave report on it.

They have cooked milk toast, rice and cocoa.

Margaret McDermid.

The Camp Cookery Club met at Cecil Norton's Tuesday evening April 3. We had it arranged to cook our supper there.

Cecil Norton and Paul Schillings were chief cooks. We had a club meeting while the supper was cooking and got interested in the meeting and let the eggs burn a little.

For opening song we sang "Oh Me! Oh My!" then we gave the club pledge.

We decided to have a dance the fourth of April at the Legion hall. There was no other business so the meeting was adjourned.

We then ate supper and entertained ourselves by listening to the phonograph.

Mrs. Dorothy Clark and Millard Melzer were assigned to make penalties for breakers of by laws. Mr. Elton E. Clarke was appointed judge for the conviction of any victim.

The members will begin preparing demonstration speeches as declamatory contest is over.

Millard Melzer.

The Moro Forestry Club met in the basement of the Moro school Monday. The meeting was called to order by the president. We wanted a name, but couldn't select one. We were to have a name by next meeting. We had a dispute about when to hold our meetings, and where. It was decided to have it on every Tuesday, but wasn't decided where to have it held at. We elected a secretary, Lyle Nahouse and a reporter, Wyman French. Mr. Adams, our leader made a motion we have the 4-H club pledge learned. It was seconded and passed.

We were asked to find out how many trees we had. We went out side to learn how to identify trees.

Then we sang some songs and went home.

Betty Jean Vinton.

The first meeting of the Colt Club took place at the school house April 6.

Material pertaining to development, care and growth of colts was given to the members by their leader, Dewey Thompson. This project is divided into four divisions, the saddle-pony type and the draft division. There are two members with colts from saddle mares while the balance belong in the draft-type division.

At a recent poultry meeting Dale Johnston was elected president of the club in place of Dorothy Fraser who will act as leader.

Most of the Division II members have their baby chicks and report them to be progressing rapidly. Five new members have joined the club since its formation.

The Progressive Garden Club, the name selected for the Moro 4-H garden club, held a meeting last Thursday at the school house.

This day was decided for all time of the regular meeting of the club which will meet every two weeks.

Merrill Oveson, the local leader, handed out reports to the group and most of the members filled out their first card. Mr. Oveson talked about the best time for planting their gardens and appropriate seasons for planting certain vegetables. These gardeners feel they will show a very good display at the fair.

Dorothy Fraser.

Mrs. Omer Sayrs called a meeting on Wednesday, April 4th, for her sewing club.

The business part of the meeting was spent in discussing suitable patterns and materials for making their washable school frocks in Division III sewing.

Several of the members have their goods and patterns for this ensemble and will soon be ready to commence their garments. Part of the club spent their time sewing on various articles.

On the first Saturday of April several members of the Sewing Club attended a meeting at Mrs. Sayrs' home.

The afternoon was occupied by the girls sewing on garments they are preparing for exhibition at the County Club Fair. The girls returned to town after a very interesting and pleasant afternoon at their leader's home.

Wednesday the 11th, the Moro Sewing Club spent an hour working at their different articles which they will show at the fair.

Mrs. Sayrs gave some very valuable hints and showed some of the girls the most practical methods for making seams and buttonholes. All of the members were present but one. The next meeting will be held on Saturday, April 21.

Dorothy Fraser.

The Homemakers gathered for a meeting on Monday, April 2nd. The entire club and their leader answered to the roll call.

A large share of the club have completed at least one or two of their required groups which must be done before the fair. Some of the girls are almost done with all ten groups. A picnic for next Monday was unanimously voted for. Jean Powell was appointed chairman of the "Eats" committee.

Nine girls attended the meeting of the Homemaking Club last Monday. The regular schedule for business meeting procedure followed with roll call, the minutes of the previous meeting read and approved and a short discussion dealing with old business.

The club talked of methods and scales for drawing kitchen plans. The picnic was postponed until later as the "eats" committee could not arrange for any sort of a lunch until too late.

The Mory Cooking Club met at Mrs. Stephens, local leader for their regular meeting. After the meeting was opened the group adjourned to the kitchen where two demonstrations were given. One of these, demonstrated by Lois Kenny, showed a very quick and easy method for preparing delicious cinnamon toast. The other displayed a simple process for making a wholesome vegetable salad. This was done by Melba Thorgerson and Irma Morgan. Both demonstrations were done well and the results were excellent. After sampling the products of the demonstrations and singing some 4-H club songs the girls departed for home.

Dorothy Fraser.

The Merry Makers, Kent high school cooking club met April 6. The meeting was held at the school house. The demonstration by Evelyn Davis and Myrtle Helyer was not given because it was understood that Miss Cowgill would be present to talk to the girls at our meeting. However this was a mistake as Miss Cowgill will not be present until April 13.

Myrtle Helyer and Evelyn Davis was supposed to demonstrate the making of a fruit salad at our next meeting which will be held April 13, at the school house.

Virginia Helyer.

The Shamrock Sheep Club met again on April 6, for their fourth meeting. The club members and their leader Elmer Helyer, started on their journey to the various farms to judge the various sheep. However they did not complete the tour because of a small breakdown of the car.

They will complete this judging trip within two or three weeks. The club has selected Thursday as their regular meeting day hereafter. The next meeting will be held April 12.

Virginia Helyer.

The Shamrock Sheep Club of Kent organized and elected their officers March 19th, under the supervision of Elmer Helyer as local club leader.

The following officers were elected: President, Myrtle Helyer; Vice President, David Hoskinson; Secretary, Donald von Borstel.

The president, Myrtle Helyer, appointed David Hoskinson to report on "Pasture for Sheep," and Hugh Hoskinson to report on "Various kinds of Feeds for Sheep."

The Science room in the school house was selected as the meeting place for all sheep club meetings.

Perhaps we all wondered why the name "Shamrock" was chosen for the sheep club. We were informed that the largest percent of the members are Irishmen.

The second meeting of the Shamrock Sheep Club was held at the school house March 23. The meeting was called to order by the president, Myrtle Helyer, and the regular routine of business was followed.

David Hoskinson reported on "Pasture for Sheep" and Hugh Hoskinson told the members about the various kinds of feeds for sheep. They were reported as very good reports.

Three new members were added to the club, Rose Ellen and Melvin Barnett, and Robert Helyer. The new addition of the three new members brought the total up to seven members.

Robert Mitchell.

The president appointed Rose Ellen Barnett and Donald von Borstel to report on anything of interest pertaining to their sheep project.

The third meeting of the Shamrock Sheep Club was held March 30, in the Science room at the school house. The president called the meeting to order and the regular procedure of business was followed.

Rose Ellen Barnett and Donald von Borstel did not give their reports for lack of time. It was suggested by the club leader that they go on a judging trip to the various members farms and judge the various types of sheep. They decided to take the trip April 6.

Robert Helyer was appointed as Sargent of Arms. Persons causing disorderly conduct are fined five cents for each disturbance. The resulting money will go into a fund to be saved for a treat for the sheep club members at the end of the sheep club project. Some say they will have plenty of money for their treats.

The Kent 4-H Beef Club met at the home of Robert Helyer Sunday April 8th. After the minutes were read we had roll call and discussed problems about calves.

We decided to wait until next meeting to drop Billy Alsup and John Fairchilds because we have not heard from them and they might be trying to get into the Moro club because it is closer.

We are going to have a talk about cattle. Donald von Borstel is going to talk on Herefords; Jackie von Borstel, Dufam; Robert Helyer, Jersey; and Luther Davis, Holstein. These talks won't be given next meeting on account of we are going to study our "Beef Judging" books.

Before the meeting we judged cattle. Each one counted up his points. These points will be kept until the finish of four meetings. The two with the highest points will be our judging team.

On April 14th, there will be slides on Judging Dairy Cattle after Grange. Everyone is invited to attend.

The next meeting will be held at Luther Davis' on April 29th.

Luther Davis Jr.

The Merry Mixers met on April 2, 1934. We had more demonstrations with quick breads. We also talked more about our picnic. Then we closed our meeting.

We met again on April 9, 1934. Madha Messinger and Audrey Searcy gave a demonstration with eggs. All members were present. We have twenty cents in our treasury. We then closed the meeting.

Audrey Ella Searcy

Mr. Fuller and Mr. Fatchet of the forest service entertained the school Tuesday afternoon with educational and beneficial pictures of the forest and wild life. This was of special interest to the forestry club. Special emphasis was given to fire prevention. The forestry club will meet this Saturday.

Anita Dunlap and Levinia Barnett demonstrated the mixing, baking and serving of a chocolate cake at the meeting of Dorothy's Kitcheneers last Thursday. The cake was so good that many of the girls copied the recipe and are going to copy it themselves. Annie Laurie Haynes and Edna McKay will demonstrate an angel food cake at the meeting this week.

The Clothing IV Club held their regular meeting last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Davis. Not much progress had been made during the week. We really must get started!

The Home Beautification Club led by Mrs. Jerry Wilson will hold their second meeting this week. The five members have all begun on their project by planting flowers or otherwise planning what they are going to do to improve the appearance of their homes.

Margaret Dunlap.

The Rufus Rabbit Club No. II met for the first time March 20 at the school house under the supervision of Albert Thompson, the local rabbit club leader.

Our officers are: Local Leader: Albert Thompson President, Frank Johnson, Vice President, Clara Matheson, Secretary, Arden Simmons and Reporter, Lila Morris.

Lila Morris.

The Hungry Eleven met at Melvin Barnett's home last Tuesday night. We arranged to have supper out there. Melvin Barnett and Robert Mitchell were chief cooks and bottle washers. We had scrambled eggs, chocolate, and griddle cakes.

After supper we had a meeting and sang three songs to open our meeting. Millard Howell was leader. Then we had the club pledge which was given very well.

Jack Sather, Lester Wilson, Clarence Young, Robert Helyer and Luther Davis were absent.

We decided to have the next meeting at Cecil Norton's home next Tuesday April 2, 1934.

Some of the girls came out after the meeting and we danced and played games. It was about 12.30 when we finally decided to go home.

Robert Mitchell.
