Town Talk
For Sale: Three purebred Hereford Bulls. W. C. Helyer, Kent.

A nice little rain fell Tuesday night over Sherman county and while it was not enough to make absolutely happy it did serve to freshen up the air and advance the wheat through another week. About a quarter of an inch fell at Moro, but more was reported in the south end of the county.

Thursday was held in Moro and students from all parts of the county were present accompanied by school principals dressed in their most impressive clothes.

H. A. Sommers was a visitor for Kent Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Sayers and children and Mrs. Margaret Peetz and son visited in Portland last week with a brother of the woman who is in the veteran's hospital.

Quite a number of parents of club children interested in stock plan to go to Yakima valley next Saturday where the children will be given a course in stock judging. Several herds of animals are to be inspected during the day and these will include horses, cattle, both beef and dairy, sheep and hogs if it is possible to arrange for all of them. While complete plans have not been perfected it is possible that a school bus will be used to transport children with no other means of making the trip.

L. A. Duncan of The Dalles was here Wednesday soliciting memberships in the Inland Empire Waterways Association a group of men in the interior country who are interested in the development of the Columbia. The hearing on the big locks will be held in The Dalles early in June.

S. A. Hall has purchased a new International Diesel tractor for use on his 1000 acre ranch east of town. The machine is a 40 and will be delivered next week. McKean and Searcy made the sale for the company.

The cattle that were on the range at that time I will now tell you about the horses.

Colonel James Fulton and Thomas Gordon owned the first two bands of horses on this range. They had some horses there in 1860. In about 1878 the Fultons sold to Jack Cooper, who continued in the business for several years. He finally drove them to Montana. The Gordon horses were sold and taken to Nebraska, and resold to the farmers.

C. I. Helm had a band of horses on shares for several years that belonged to Watson, and "Doc" Helm. Charley sold his interest to his uncles, and they took them to southern Oregon. The men that went with them were Watson, Helm, Douglas, Stone, Am Andrews and Will Lancaster.

John Young started with them, and a couple of days afterward his father was killed by a runaway team. Frank Hulery overtook them at Antelope with the news and John came back.

Charley then thought horses from Jim Jenkins, Uncle John Graham, and William Lair Hill. He then owned over 700 head of fine horses. He took them to the Big Bend country. The men that Helm, Jasper Garrison, Vene Ever went with this herd were C. D. Vrett, Gene Hays, Grady Hahn, Dick Johnson, and Jay Price. We ferried the Columbia at Grants and went by way of Yakima, and Ellensburg, and swam the Columbia at the mouth of Moses coulee. The horse ranch was ten miles below the coulee.

The Brookhouse had took their horses to the Big Bend, and located north of Moses coulee. They finally sold out and all came back to Wasco county. The Floyd boys first moved their horses out south of Prineville, and kept them there several years, then brought them back to south of Grass Valley, and the next year moved them to White Bluffs.

Pierre Catherine took a small band of horses to Badger mountain and the hard winter cleaned him out. He went to the Yakima reservation, where he married a "breed" girl, and died there a couple of years ago.

At one time a trailload of horses was bought up and loaded at Grants, and shipped to North Dakota. The men selling to these buyers were Clark, Dunlap, Chapman, Eaton, Pearson, and other small owners.

Watson sold his interest in the horses in southern Oregon to his brother, and bought the Dr. Richardson horses, and drove them to the Big Bend. He also went north of Moses coulee, and sold them to Platt Corby on terms. The hard winter cleaned them out and they went broke. There was a vast difference between the north and the south side of the coulee. All that went north lost heavily.

Dan Bolton had about a hundred head of horses which he took to Rock Creek, Klickitat county. With after feeding them all winter he turned them out on grass, and soon after they were stolen and he never did get them. There were more than a thousand head stolen that spring and were never recovered.

In about 1881 E. O. McCoy and his brother brought a band of horses from the Walla Walla country. Their headquarters were at China hollow. A few years later "Dutch" as we all called him took them to northern Washington.

Allie West owned a band of horses which he sold in small lots, and traded some for land. He sold his interest in Sherman county several years ago and moved to the coast where he still lives.

Rube Booten owned both horses and cattle in Grass Valley. He sent his horses to White Bluffs, and moved his cattle to the Prineville country. There probably were other small lots of stock which I have overlooked, or forgotten, but I have mentioned the most of the stock that was disposed of to make way for the development of this vast region into the wonderful farming country that it has proved to be.

OREGON MUTUAL
The Oregon Mutual Fire Insurance Company of McMinnville is celebrating its 40th year of activity in this State. It will be host to its agents at a two-day convention at the Home Office, April 26 and 27 and Mrs. B. E. Hailey, local representative, will be in attendance from here. B. F. Irvine of the Oregon Journal and Palmer Hoyt of the Morning Oregonian will broadcast radio talks by special leased wire.

An outstanding feature of the observance is the fact that W. C. Hagerty, President of the Company, is still at the helm after 29 consecutive years, serving since 1927 in his present capacity. He declares the organization is sounder than ever, with a surplus of $264,120.11 and a total non-assessable insurance on the books
