4-H Club News

The Grass Valley High School Cooking Club met Monday, April 23 for the first time in two weeks. Marjorie Blake and Vere Pike demonstrated the cooking of rice. While the rice was cooking the business was carried on. In order to complete the cooking project a cake of the sponge cake variety must be exhibited, it was decided that May 4th would be an appropriate time for the exhibit. It is required that the Cooking II girls give a tea for their mothers; this was brought up and the date for the tea was set for May 19. The different committees are to be appointed at the next meeting.

Miss Cowgill was at school the first of last week to show the sewing club members some of the work done by other members in Oregon. She also explained several things in cooking which the girls didn't understand.

The most important thing she did, and which she was probably unconscious of, was to encourage the girls to complete their projects and to do better work.

Mrs. Pauline Wilcox met with the Grass Valley High School Sewing Club members and talked with them about their work. They decided to meet again Tuesday, April 24 and spend an hour sewing. Some of the girls thought they would like to be included in the Style Review contest which Miss Cowgill told us about.

Greta Russell.

The Moro Beef Club met at the Tom Fraser ranch on April 7. All of the members were present.

At this meeting we judged beef and dairy cattle, also swine. From the club Mr. Barnum will select a judging team to compete with the other teams in the county.

The next meeting was held at the Roy Powell ranch April 14. At this meeting we judged beef and dairy cattle.

Mr. Barnum showed us how to treat stock for sore feet and colds.

Ronald Powell.

The Sewing Club met at the home of Mrs. J. J. Scheffer in Moro.

Four members were present and worked on various articles. Mrs. Sayers helped one girl cut the goods for her dress in division 3. The next meeting will be held on Wednesday, April 25.

The Homemakers held a meeting last Monday.

Irma Morgan called the meeting to order and then turned the discussion over to the leader, Lavon Sayers. Next meeting the girls will go through the book and mark the different parts they would like to be left out in the next publication of this project. This was advised by Miss Cowgill on her recent visit in Sherman county.

Helen Strong and Lucile McLachlan were appointed to arrange for a picnic at the next meeting. Several girls handed in cards.

The High School Girls of the Moro Cooking Club attended a meeting at Mrs. Stephen's home last Wednesday.

Before the business meeting two demonstrations were given. One, a chocolate whip pudding; by Marjorie Byers and Lucile McLachlan. Mrs. Stephens demonstrated the other which was the making and baking of a chocolate angel food cake. The local leader also gave some useful hints for greater success in making sponge-type cakes.

At the business meeting the girls decided to hold a picnic on May 3rd at the city park. This will be in place of the usual meeting at the leaders' home. For the Mother's Tea, which is to be given in the near future for the mothers of the club girls, several committees were appointed as follows: Invitation: Irma Morgan and Louise Barzee; decoration: Doris Thompson, Lucile McLachlan and Norma Melzer; program: Marjorie Byers, Melba Thogerson and Mary Pinkerton; refreshments: Dorothy Fraser, Jean Powell and Gayle Amidon.

Several songs were sung and the meeting was adjourned to the kitchen where the girls ate the delicious pudding. The recipe was taken from the division III books.

The Moro Dairy Club members attended a meeting at the Glen King ranch near Grass Valley, for the purpose of judging sheep.

Four members were present at this meeting although many beef club members also attended. The members spent the afternoon by judging three classes of different types of livestock, the three classes placed were: (1) Lincoln lambs; (2) Hampshire ewes; (3) Lincoln ewes. The good and defective points of sheep were discussed and explained by the leaders. This is the third judging tour the members have made, the other two were made to judge different types of dairy and beef animals.

Gordon Fraser, local leader and president of the Moro Calf Club took charge of a short meeting of this club, Wednesday afternoon.

He had made arrangements for all the members to make the judging trip into the Yakima valley. Most of the club are going.

All dairy, beef, pig, sheep and goat clubs in Sherman county will make a trip into the Yakima valley in Washington if transportation can be furnished, on April 28. The 4-H members will spend the day judging beef and dairy animals, sheep, colts, and pigs of some of the very best herds in the northwest. The Hubbard Sheep ranch will be one of the farms visited. This farmer owns some of the best breeding sheep in Washington as well as one of the finest herds. At the Congdon and Battles farm the very best Aberdeen-Angus herds will be judged. Several other places will be visited to see other breeds of these livestock.

"Doc" Allen, assistant state club leader, county agent Johnston and Superintendent Knight, also several local livestock club leaders will make the trip with the members. All local leaders are urged to make arrangements for their clubs to make the trip as soon as possible. The group will meet at the Maryhill Ferry at 5:30 Saturday morning. A picnic lunch will be held some place on the journey. All members should make this excursion for it is to be one of the most important and interesting events on the club schedule this year.

Dorothy Fraser.

At the last two meetings of the Sunny Slope Foresters, we had some very interesting reports on wild life of the forest and of the birds of our local community. Some told how animals, especially beavers, destroy trees and every one had instructive reports on the living habits of our birds.

For our next meeting we are to describe a tree, bring a leaf or some bark to specify it and see how many members can recognize the tree from the description and its bark or leaf.

Most of our trees seem to be growing quite well. We have to repair our irrigation system which is delaying us in watering the trees at present.

Waifred Belshae.

The Katty Kamp Kookery Klub has held nine meetings and will hold one more next Friday. We have decided to go to Buck Hollow May 5. The three members who will cook together are Thirly Chapman, David McLeod and Leona McLeod. The next group to work together are Vernon Melzer, Patricia McLeod and Millard Melzer. Each family represented will furnish according to number of members in it. The club members have been learning their demonstration speeches. The Katty Kamp Kookery Klub will have a weinmer roast while they are at Buck Hollow.

Millard Melzer.

The Kent high school cooks, better known as the Merry Makers, enjoyed another meeting at the school house April 20. This is the 7th meeting of this club.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Clarice Mitchell and the minutes of last meeting was read. When roll call was taken all members were present but one.

An interesting demonstration of a fruit salad was given by Myrtle Helyer and Clarice Mitchell. The salad was found to be very appetizing and delicious.

Two high school boys were so greatly interested in our cooking club that they were present at our last meeting. Perhaps they were just trying to get an eye on two of the girls' cooking. Who knows? However, we sincerely hope they enjoyed their visit.

The judging contest will be held at our next meeting. Every individual in our club will make some kind of white cookies and bring a sample to our meeting where the members will judge and place them in their respective places.

The Merry Makers will hold their next meeting April 27 at the school house.

Perhaps this is a bit of news that will interest club members. It seems that 4-H club work isn't just an American institution. About once a year, from Finland in northern Europe comes a letter and also a bulletin or two to the state club office, at Corvallis, with a request for copies of club materials and recent bulletins from Oregon.

The letter and bulletin was sent by a man named A. Hirvisalo, who signs his title as club leader in north Finland, "Oulio." Mr. Hirvisalo, this year sent a bulletin of club work in north Europe. (Sweden, Norge, Finland, and Denmark) Mr. Hirvisalo also stated the fact that they had now in Finland 45,000 members in club work. The name of the bulletin which was sent in was "Lantungsomverksamhet i Norden. Whem-What, a name. The foreign bulletin is about the same size as the bulletins used in Oregon but quite thicker than most of ours.

In this bulletin the only phrase that can be read by an American reader is "learning by doing" which is also a by word used by American 4-H club members.

I wonder if these young people in Northern Europe enjoy and derive the benefits from club work that we United States boys and girls do. We sincerely hope they have enjoyed their club work as much as we have ours, and continue to do so.

The Shamrock Sheep Club met at the school house April 19, for the sixth meeting of the club.

Myrtle Helyer, president of the club, called the meeting to order and it proceeded in the usual way. Each member responded to the roll call by giving the progress of his sheep.

Melvin Barnett instructed the members as to the different breeds of sheep and David Hoskinson told the members why it was beneficial to take up the sheep club project.

The Pacific International 4-H Wool Show will be held again this year. The purpose of this wool show is to help the 4-H sheep club members determine the quality of wool produced by their sheep and to bring about improvement in quantity and quality.

Both purebred and grade fleeces are included in the classification of fleeces. In previous years the grade fleeces have not been included.

The club leader, Elnor Helyer, some time ago received a letter from the county agricultural agent Perry N. Johnston, instructing him as to the Pacific International 4-H Wool Show. Mr. Johnston enclosed a copy of a letter that he had received from Mr. Allen, assistant state club leader, together with suggestions to 4-H club members on shearing and caring of fleeces for exhibition purposes. Mr. Helyer gave these copies of suggestions to the sheep club members.

At the next meeting the members will learn the fine points of the Rambouillet and Lincoln breeds of sheep. Myrtle Helyer and Hugh Hoskinson will furnish them with this information.

The next meeting of the so called "Irishmen" will be held April 26 at the school house.

Perry N. Johnston, county agricultural agent, recently sent letters to all 4-H Livestock club members stating that on Saturday, April 28, a livestock judging tour will be made to the Yakima valley. A schedule of the farms to be visited has been made. They plan on being at the Maryhill Ferry at 5:30 Saturday morning and returning late Saturday evening.

Herds of beef, dairy cattle, hogs and flocks of sheep will be visited and judged under the supervision of the best judges.

We were also informed that Doc Allen, assistant state club leader, will make the trip also. The club members should try to make this day one that won't easily be forgotten.

Mr. Johnston suggested taking a few extra sandwiches to fulfill the famished boys and girls wishes on the way home. Perhaps that wouldn't be a bad idea, would it?

The intermediate and upper grades organized a sewing club including clothing I, II, and III, and Bachelor Sewing on February 15. Mrs. Essie Wilson is their leader.

The following officers were elected: Rose Ellen Barnett, president; LeVina Barnett, vice president; Maxine Plumek, secretary.

The following committee and committeemen were elected: Program committee, Maxine Plumek; social committee, Rose Ellen Barnett; exhibition committee, Frances Gregg; contest committee, Mary Hoskinson and LeVina Barnett; special committee, Charlie Bill Wilson.

The members decided to name the club the "Seven and One" because there seven girls and one boy.

The Seven and One Club held their second meeting at the school house February 26.

The meeting was called to order by the president. Roll call was given and each one answered it from what they had learned in sewing. The president then asked for old business, and this was they named the club.

The third meeting of the Seven and One was held March 8, at the school house.

The meeting was called to order by the president, and roll call was answered by work they had done.

The Seven and One Sewing Club held their fourth meeting March 15 at the school house. President called meeting to order and regular routine of business followed. The fifth meeting was also done in the same routine.

The sixth meeting of the Seven and One Sewing Club was held March 29. The president opened the meeting. When the roll call was taken each member responded by telling what they had done on their project.

Virginia Helyer.

The Sunshine Sewing circle met Wednesday afternoon at their leaders home for the regular meeting. All of the members were present but Evelyn Davis. There was a general discussion on dress making for the style revue. More material has been sent for about it. Some of the girls have begun work on their dresses. It was suggested that we have judging and demonstration teams but nothing was done about it. Mrs. Davis also suggested that we have roll call answered with our progress during the week. It was agreed. Anna Sather, president, appointed Clarice Mitchell and Margaret Dunlap on the program committee.

The program is made out for the ten regular meetings. It goes as follows: 1st meeting, March 8, Organization. Selection of club name. General discussion and explanation of project. Plans for future meetings.

Second meeting, March 23. General business, (roll call, minutes, old and new business) Reports of progress by members. Appointment of committees. Questions on project.

Third meeting April 4. General business. Report of committees. Organization of demonstration team for next meeting. Practicing of club songs and pledge.

Fourth meeting April 18. General business. Roll call answered with progress. Demonstration by team. Social hour.

Fifth meeting April 25th. Usual business. Roll call answered with progress. Talk by leader on how to judge sewing. Announcement that each member is to bring something she has made in sewing to the next meeting for judging. Club song.

Sixth meeting May 3. Usual business. Report of committees. Judging contest. Appointment of demonstration team. Ask to invite mothers to next meeting. Club songs.

Seventh meeting May 10. Demonstration. Report of progress by each member. Talk by one of the mothers. Entertainment and eats.

Eighth meeting May 17. General business. Roll call answered with progress of members. Assignment of topics for each member to report next meeting. Club songs.

Ninth meeting May 24. Club pledge. Business. Report on topics assigned last meeting. Start making plans for fair. Discussion on exhibits. Plans for next and last meeting.

Tenth meeting May 31. Summary of work. Plans for next year. Demonstration team for fair chosen. Talk by leader. General discussion. Refreshments. Club songs and yells.

There are two very flourishing Camp Cookery clubs in the Kent grade school. One is led by Miss Magee and is called the Hungry Seven. They have been accused of copying after the older boys' group who call themselves the Hungry Eleven. The other one is led by Miss Potratz and is called the C. F. S. These clubs both meet every Wednesday afternoon. The Hungry Seven cooked their last meal Wednesday. Eugene Norton made the biscuits. This club cooked half of the required meals at their meetings and the other half at home. They will hold their next two meetings with Miss Potratz's club to learn club songs and get their reports in.

The C. S. F. club is made up of all girls. The initials in the name stand for Cook Fun Sing. Nellie Grace Wilson is the president of the club; Juanita Mitchell is vice president and Jeane Haynes is secretary. At the last meeting the girls met at Norton's and Juanita Mitchell demonstrated the making of cookies. At the next meeting they are planning to decide on the ideal luncheon and breakfast. They have been instructed to bring magazine pictures of articles suitable for each meal and then they are going to decide on the ideal meal.

"Dorothy's Kitcheneers" met last Thursday at Maxine Plumek's home for the usual meeting, Annie Laurie Haynes and Maxine Plumek demonstrated "How to Build a Cake." It was a very interesting and tasty topic. At the next meeting Helen Wilson and Edna McKay will demonstrate making fruit salad. Let's hope it is as good as the cake.

Margaret Dunlap.
