Drouth Situation Continues Bad

The new wheat season beginning August 1, presents a marked contrast to that of a year ago. Last season began with record world stocks and abundant harvests in Europe. This season, world stocks are still large, probably not greatly different from the high record of last season, but the crop situation differs materially with smaller harvests in prospect in all important areas except north Africa, Oriental countries and possibly Canada. The trade estimates now suggest a Canadian crop no larger than the 1933 harvest. The marked reduction in supplies this season particularly in European deficit countries, suggests an increased

Strength of the Firefly
Certain fireflies emit a light that, although only 1-50th of a candle power, is so penetrating that it passes through paper, flesh and wood, writes J. T. Finlay, Emporia, Kan., in Collier's Weekly. In fact, X-ray photographs of these substances have been made by the insect manufacturer.

World trade in wheat and flour. Trade agencies estimate world shipments for the 1934-35 season at about 552,000,000 bushels, with the movement to Europe placed at approximately 440,000,000 bushels, and to ex-European countries at only 112,000,000 bushels.

World shipments during the season just closed have totaled only 520,000,000 bushels or the smallest world movement during the post-war period and about 40,000,000 bushels less than the combined total of the export quotas assigned under the London wheat agreement. Data for the principal exporting countries are not available but preliminary figures indicate that Canada has shipped around 190,000,000 bushels of wheat and flour out of an allotted quota of 200,000,000 bushels. The U.S. has exported around 26,000,000 bushels out of a quota of 47,000,000 bushels. Argentina about 144,000,000 bushels as against a quota of 110,000,000 bushels, Australia around 95,000,000 bushels from a quota of 105,000,000 bushels and the Danubian countries around 20,000,000 bushels out of a quota of 50,000,000 bushels. No definite allotment was assigned to Russia but the quota for other exporting areas including that country was fixed at 48,000,000 bushels. Russian shipments from Black sea ports during the season totaled 27,000,000 bushels. On the demand side only the United Kingdom and the Netherlands reported gains in imports last season. Germany, France and Italy took only about three-fourths as much wheat and flour as during the preceding year when imports were also very light. Takings by other European countries were also lower. Shipments to ex-European countries were around 40,000,000 bushels under those of the previous year. China and Japan took only about 50,000,000 bushels as against 90,000,000 bushels a year ago, while the movement to Central America was reduced around 1,000,000 bushels.

HI-WAYS TO HEALTH by ADA R. MAYNE OREGON DAIRY COUNCIL

Vegetables served fresh from the garden are a real treat and should be used in abundance during their fresh season. Everyday vegetables can be prepared in many attractive and appetizing ways. When cooked by methods which will preserve their color, flavor and texture, vegetables usually become the favorite part of the meal, especially during summer days.

There is no better way to serve fresh vegetables than with plenty of butter, if the vegetables are cooked just right. When vegetables are cooked too long they lose their pleasant fresh flavor. The so-called strong vegetables as cabbage and turnips, are sweet and mild when boiled only until tender, in an uncovered kettle. Others may be boiled with cover on but never should be overcooked. In this way they preserve their lovely color and blend perfectly with the delicious flavor of butter, which should be added just before serving.

Suggestions for other ways to serve fresh vegetables are:

- Baked Cucumbers
- 3 medium sized cucumbers (4 cups sliced)
- 3 tbs. fine bread crumbs
- 3 tbs. grated American cheese
- 2 tsp. minced parsley
- 2 egg yolks
- 1-3 cup milk
- 1-2 tsp. salt
- Few grains black pepper
- 3 tbs. butter
- Peel the cucumbers and cut into crosswise slices. Parboil and place in one cup of water for 3 or 4 minutes. Drain and place in buttered baking dish. Combine beaten egg yolks, milk, salt and pepper and pour over the cucumbers. Cover with the bread crumbs that have been mixed with the cheese and parsley. Place butter cut into bits over the top. Bake in slow oven until crumbs brown and cheese melts. Requires about 25 minutes.

Southern Corn Pudding

- 2 cups fresh corn
- 2 eggs
- 1 3-4 cups milk
- 3 tbs. melted butter
- 1-2 to 3-4 tsp. salt
- 1 level tbs. flour—pepper
- Beat eggs slightly and add milk with which flour has been mixed then the corn, melted butter, salt and pepper. Pour in well buttered baking dish, set in pan of hot water and bake in moderate oven until an inserted silver knife comes out clean and the pudding is nicely browned. About 1-2 hr. Baked Stuffed Tomatoes & Corn

- 6 large, ripe tomatoes
- 1 cup well seasoned thin white sauce.
- 4 tbs. melted butter
- 1 tbs. chopped onion
- 1 tbs. chopped green pepper
- 2 cups fresh corn
- 1-2 cup soft bread crumbs
- Wash and cut off the tops of the tomatoes. Scoop out the inside and sprinkle the inside with salt. Combine the white sauce (use 1 cup milk, 1 tsp. butter, 1 tbs. flour, 1-2 tsp. salt and 1-8 tsp. pepper as the basis for this) onion, green pepper and the cooked corn and fill the tomatoes with this mixture. Top with the crumbs mixed with the butter. Bake in a hot oven of 400 degrees fahrenheit for 30 minutes or until tomatoes are tender.
