

STATE HOUSE GOSSIP

of Hannah Martin, Marion County's woman representative. He is Clint Haight, editor of the Blue Mountain Eagle at Canyon City, who has been giving daily weather reports of Grant County and who wants to go home, he says. Haight is one of the House members.

First meetings of the Board of Control have aroused the ire of some newspapermen because the sessions were closed and Rufus C. Holman, State Treasurer, calls them "conferences" rather than board meetings. He says there will be some open meetings this week, but the so-called conferences would be much more interesting.

Those who have watched the procedure declare that for once Rufus is enjoying full sway and is actually Governor at the present time because he is the hold over member of the Board. But these observers do state his reign will not be for long—only as long as he is not brought up in his wishes and desires.

William Einzig ruined one day for State Treasurer. The Purchasing Agent resigned orally at once and Monday tendered his written resignation, thus robbing Rufus of the chance to fire him. Einzig has been a thorn in Holman's flesh for a long time. His resignation however has not been accepted by the Governor. In the meantime Einzig is anxious to quit and start on his private enterprises.

No new appointments had been made the first week of Martin's administration, but several are expected at any time. These would include a budget director and possibly two members on the State Liquor Control Commission. Others will perhaps follow regularly.

HI-WAYS TO HEALTH
by ADA R. MAYNE

Desserts are often looked upon as the least important part of the meal but they can be made to take on new importance. Squeezing extra calories into a meal can be done easily by serving substantial dessert. When desserts are made with milk, butter and eggs they furnish not only energy but the necessary protective elements—the vitamins and minerals which make them highly nutritious food.

Fruits, either dried or canned, can be used in combination with milk and eggs and will add variety, as well as food value. Fruits are actually cheap at present and are a good investment, because they too, are protective foods. Of the dried fruits, prunes, apricots and peaches are the most widely used.

Left over breads of all kinds have numberless possibilities and can be transformed into delicious puddings and cakes. Bread crumbs are really a quickly available form of flour that is seasoned, cooked and ready for use. Desserts made with rice or tapioca, fruit, short cakes or fruit whips all add protective value, as well as energy value to low cost meals.

The following recipes are suitable for cold weather desserts:

- Baked Rice Custard
Four eggs, yolks
Three cups milk
Two cups cooked rice
Two cup granulated sugar
One-half teaspoon grated lemon rind
Four egg whites
Six tablespoons sugar
One-half teaspoon salt
Beat egg yolks thoroughly, add milk and stir until well blended. Then add rice, sugar, salt and rind.

Turn into buttered baking dish or into individual buttered molds. Place molds in a pan of hot water, then put into a moderate oven and bake until firm or for about 25 minutes. Cover with a meringue made of the egg whites and six tablespoons of sugar. Brown in slow oven (300 F.) for about 15 minutes.

Indian Pudding
Two quarts milk
One cup corn meal
One cup molasses
One cup finely chopped suet
One egg
One teaspoon salt
One-half cup butter
Cinnamon and Ginger

Scald one and one-half quarts of the milk and gradually sift into it the corn meal, stirring all the time. Add the suet, molasses, well beaten egg, salt and butter. Powder with cinnamon and ginger to taste. Mix well and pour into buttered baking dish. Bake in a moderate oven 300 deg. and bake for three and a half hours. After the pudding has been baking for one-half hour pour the remaining two cups of milk over it, but do not stir. Serve hot with vanilla ice cream. This pudding may be made a day or two before Christmas and reheated just before serving.

Baked Maple Custard
Two large eggs
Two cups milk, scalded
One half teaspoon maple flavoring
Beat eggs lightly. Grind maple sugar through food chopper and add to the eggs. Add salt and then milk, stirring during the addition.

Cook over hot water until mixture forms coating on silver spoon. Remove from stove, add flavoring, and set aside to cool. Serve with whipped cream on top.
