STATEHOUSE GOSSIP

Secretary of State announced. Merriam has two days in which to resign, and that he will not do. The recall movement has not bothered the apple grower from Eugene an iota, and he smilingly ignores the issue.

The so-called cabinet form of government, for which a bill has been drafted providing for the Governor to take over virtually control of all major departments and the abolishment of the Board of Control, will not be introduced this session, it was seen. The administration is having hard enough struggle attempting to get through his other measures.

The defeat of the county unit plan for public education, the plan urged and favored by the Governor, was the executive's own fault, political observers declared. He could have "cracked down" on some Senators and obtained results. Rather he left it to others, and the bill was defeated by a single vote in the Senate.

The bill along with his plan to have all commission fees placed into the general fund, was introduced the first day of business and it was killed the 40th day. The general fund bill is still in Senate committee and its defeat was likewise predicted. A bill to have boards and commissions pay a tenth of receipts into the general fund now appears certain.

Loyal Democratic friends of Walter Pierce, Congressman for the second district and national democratic central committeeman, were working hard to defeat a bill which would force him to resign one job or the other. Friends of Governor Martin are putting the bill over, and there was no doubt but that Martin would approve it. Pierce was not too friendly to Martin in the recent campaign.

And while Legislators now are working for nothing and spending considerable, we ponder why they come to the Legislature after an expensive campaign generally, sit all day to the pound of the gavel and mumble of speakers. Surely not, we think, in the interest of the "dear" people or the taxpayers.

It is one of the mysteries of life that is hard to answer, but it has been suggested to us that there is but one satisfactory reason or answer to the question. It is to satisfy their ego, a chance to assert their pride in being elected a Representative of a group of people. And ego is natural. There appears no better answer.
