A MEAN LOW-DOWN SHRIMP! She saw her husband slyly fold a piece of paper and put it away in the farthest corner of the top bureau drawer. If he had carelessly thrown it in, she would have thought nothing of it. But she asked: "What's that?" And he answered sheepishly: "Oh, nothing."

She kept wondering what it was which he said was of no importance. As soon as he was gone she looked at it. This is what she read: "I'll buy you that new hat you want so much if you are able to resist the temptation and will leave this paper alone."

Now she's in a pickle. How can she claim the hat without giving herself away?

Don't draw wrong conclusions. When the modern wife is engaged in sewing dainty little garments of tiny size—the chances are they are for herself.—Pathfinder.

WHEN AN INCH IS A LOT Rainfall as everyone knows is measured in inches and fractions of inches. But few people realize the immense quantity of water involved in an inch of precipitation. An inch of rain over an acre of ground is equal to 27,143 gallons of water and would be sufficient to fill a cistern 20 feet square and nine feet deep. It would weigh over 113 tons.

If some men were asked what they would do if they were president they'd have to go home and ask their wives.
