Duckling coach who came here from Astoria high school, has had over 70 men turning out regularly since the beginning of practice 2 weeks ago and, from all indications will be able to whip an eleven out of this group which will be one of the most powerful yearling machines in the history of the school.

Watkins was selected as halfback on the All-county in Sherman County, and with his 174 pounds compressed into 5 feet 11 inches, should make an ideal man for the blocking, or outside, half of Warren's eleven. Being one of the comparatively unknown in outside football circles, Watkins will not get the starting call for several games yet, but there is no doubt that he will get a chance to play plenty of football as a reserve back for such high school head-liners as Fred Buroker of Witsburg, Washington, and Tony Veronda from Petaluma, California.

Six Man Football Makes Hit At Rufus

By Lawrence Henderson

Did you ever try to get subscriptions for magazines as popular as the Country Gentleman or the Saturday Evening Post? Try it some time. Our teams, the Green and Gold, found it a none too easy job to scrape up a subscription here and there. The final result of the Curtis Publishing Co. subscription contest was, Gold, 14 subscriptions and the Green 3 subscriptions. The Gold team will be expecting, without a doubt, an entertainment or party at the Green's expense.

Scowls, furrowed brows, and huge arm loads of books—the fore runner of our first six week's examinations. Ah, we'll soon know who has been spending their time in various occupations other than studying and, to be optimistic we'll know whether anything has seeped into these poor over-worked heads of ours in the last few weeks.

Eightythree, a. m., found the Rufus school gymnasium a scene of activity cleaning away the remnants of last Saturday's evidence of a good time. The Annual Rufus Carnival was not only a pleasant event but also a financial success taking into consideration the population of our community.

Cooperation in preparation for the carnival and carrying out the program last Saturday night was pronounced good—and of course.

the Rufus Student Body feel as if they had accomplished something worth while.

Several boys returned from Grass Valley Friday evening with the apparent evidence here and there of a terrific fight in the first county game of "Little Brother" football, which is played with six men on a side. Even after being defeated 27 points to 6, our boys feel as if they've achieved something in sports as football has not been a competitive sport at Rufus.

The two major issues discussed by the Rufus School Board meeting last Monday are of interest to us as well as the parents of our students. Mr. Tetz will attend the Principal's Convention Friday and Saturday to be held at Salem. It was also decided by the school to order two new type writing tables for the school. That may inspire poor typists to better work. "Ouah, take it easy, driver!" might occasionally be heard in spite of the fact that new busses are on the routes this year. Because of rough roads, students usually arrive home or at school fairly well shaken up although the drivers are careful to hold a moderate speed.

While speaking of busses it would be interesting to know that approximately 73 percent of the Rufus grade and high school children come on the various busses.

Miss Murdock, the primary teacher, has been giving her children an interesting course of folk and tap dancing during the music period. Ah, ha! So that's what we've been hearing these last days. Even so, we are interested to see how our little school children progress in their dancing lessons.
