Girls' Volleyball League Opened Season at Kent Last Night

The Grass Valley girls will play a volleyball game with Kent at Kent Thursday night. The game was advanced because many of the teachers are planning on leaving for Eugene Friday.

The football game which was to take place between Rufus Grass Valley last Friday was called off due to the snow storm, and the boys have turned in their uniforms.

Mr. Rowe has been informed of his appointment to the state committee on Correlation by the Oregon State Council of English Teachers. For the past two years he has been working towards the unifying English with other subjects in the high school curriculum and has achieved a reasonable amount of success.

A student body meeting was held Friday for the purpose of granting charters to the Mermaid Tavern, Girls League, "G" men and Rhythm Makers. Charters were granted to all except the Rhythm Makers who are revising their constitution. The presidents of the organizations are, Robert Rolfe, Isabelle Fortner, John Roth and Ferdinand Stark. An amendment was offered to the constitution by James Blagg providing that the class presidents and organizations presidents should be included with student body officers on the student council. This amendment will be voted upon at the next meeting.

Students of the high school are engaged in composing the words for school songs to be entered in the contest being sponsored by the Girls League.

At the meeting of the "G" Men last week Ferdinand Stark was elected assistant Chief, Edwin Peters was elected Recorder, Keith Rinehart was chosen for Banker, and Kenneth Barnett received the title of Sheriff.

Much interest is manifest this year in debate with eight candidates for the four positions. Let-terms remaining from last year's district Championship team are Janet Wilcox, senior, and Marjorie Blake, Junior.

Those trying for position for the first team are Robert Rolfe and Keith Rinehart, seniors; Agnes Simons, sophomore; and Marcus Eslinger, Betty Olds and Thelma Fortner from the Freshman class. A tryout debate will be held on Friday.

Bad Weather Has No Terror For Aux Ladies

at Tables Held at Card Party in Legion Hall Saturday

In spite of the fact that the mercury hovered close to zero Saturday evening the American Legion Auxiliary card party was well attended and a real jolly time enjoyed by all. Ten tables were played, Roy Barnett receiving a set of hand carved book ends for high score, while Mrs. Frances Darby carried away a beautiful silver plated bon bon dish. A lot of merriment was created when Floye von Borstel and Geo. Barnett were handed Halloween noise makers for their low scores.

A bountiful supper of hot parker house rolls, jelly, pumpkin pie with whipped cream, and coffee was served and thoroughly enjoyed.

Recent improvements at the parties are new cards at all tables; card table numbers made on little squares of ply wood that are easily read and stay put on the tables and the attractive American Legion Auxiliary score cards.

At the last party of the series, which runs through the school year, gifts will be presented to the high scoring lady and man for the season. Those not receiving these gifts will draw for a third gift, each person having one chance for each party attended. The winner of this prize must be present when his or her name is drawn or another name will be drawn.

Was Quaking Bus Factor In Rufus Winning Game

New Tables in Typing Room Thought To Have Helped Grades

It seems peculiar that our driver to the Friday night's game with Kent hadn't complained of the bus quivering and quaking to the extent of making driving difficult. The atmosphere was so hippy that to refrain from shivering was practically impossible; hence, violent vibrations of the bus on the return trip. It might be added that the atmosphere in the Kent gymnasium was a wee bit frigid. Considering the atmospheric conditions, Rufus did well to return with the score of 49 to Kent's 11.

Donald Macnab, a last year's graduate now attending the Portland University, visited his parents over the week end.

Many lights illuminated the school October 31st, giving us the impression that the 7th and 8th grades were having a Halloween party.

Did you notice a sudden rise in typing grades or bookkeeping grades? No? Perhaps you didn't know that two new tables have arrived for our typing room. In addition, two large tables were constructed and placed in our library where classes are held daily. We appreciate these tables because of the help it gives us in easily preparing our lessons and being near reference work.

Our basketball team has lost only one player from last year's team, the all-district guard Earl (Red) Williams, but we have several very promising freshmen that will add to our basketball this year. They are brushing away a few cobwebs from their basketball memory and will soon begin diligent practice in preparation for the coming season.

Several new reference books that have already proved their worth in student reference work are listed: "Our Dynamic Society" by Elliot-Merrill-Wright; "Problems of our Times," Zeleny and Brainard; "Principles of Social Sciences," Williamson and Wesley; "Readings in Civic Sociology," Ross; and "The Citizen and his Government," by Lapp and Weaver.

Margaret Macnab, the "Arrow-head" editor reported last Monday on various "helps, hints, and criticisms" discussed at the Eugene Press Convention. We were greatly impressed by the various ideas and new thoughts that she brought with her. Briefly, we might enumerate several of these. The advantages of putting a purpose in an editorial; various defects in the editorial section; the chief one being the neglect of not fully understanding the topic; how to arrange topic headlines interestingly and what they should be composed of; the idea of maintaining an editorial board, in which the most essential thing must be regarded in editorial writing—courtesy; and the use of school emblems in cartooning various school happenings.

Perhaps one of the most vital criticisms is the neglect to go into detail in an interesting subject. Details are the things readers are concerned about in an article in which they are interested in. Especially is this true of a humorous story or sports event.

Last it was found that more features, more interesting pictures and personals are really the things that draw interest and it was advised that more should be included in our school paper.

Gasoline Tax Collection For Three Months Past Is Record

The largest collections of gasoline taxes in the history of the state were recorded during the last three months, with nearly three million dollars received by Earl Snell, secretary of state.

September was another peak month, with $887,000 paid in, bringing the total revenue from motor fuels taxes to $2,800,000 for the quarter year. Receipts of $958,000 in August set the high mark for all time in gas collections and July, with $954,000, closely approached the top mark.

Gross receipts for the nine months of the year totaled nearly $7,500,000, indicating that during the year, fuel sales will reach approximately ten million dollars, the greatest ever received from this source.

COLUMBIA RIVER MEETING

(Continued from page one) ment of the upper Columbia and Snake rivers", Vice-President West reported. Major accomplishments of the association since the last meeting include securing $400,000 of public work relief funds for the open river channel work on the Columbia from Celilo Falls to Umatilla, work on which has already been started; unifying the Inland Empire and securing pledges of active cooperation from all communities between Hood River and Lewiston and Spokane in prosecuting the program; and arranging for hearings before the board of engineers for rivers and harbors at Washington, D. C., appealing the adverse report of Col. T. M. Robins, Portland, division engineer, on the immediate construction of the Umatilla Rapids dam and improvement of the Snake river and on the channelization of the Columbia from Vancouver, Washington, to The Dalles.

Income of the association from March 1, 1934, to September 30, 1935, net, amounted to $12,726.79, according to an audited report. Expenses for the same period amounted to $12,602.47, leaving a balance of $124.32.

In his address Senator Pope called upon the people of the Northwest to do three things to secure the utmost in development of the Columbia; "First, we must stand solidly behind the development of this great river," he said. "We must have everyone, not only those now interested in this association, talk, believe and wish for this development; second, we must develop plans for its development, plans that are practical, feasible and economical; and third, we must convince the national authorities that it is to the nations interest to develop the Columbia."

Referring to his European visit the senator declared the United States can keep out of the Ethiopian struggle but that if war spreads to Europe and it becomes general it will be difficult to maintain neutrality because of the great interest this country will have in promoting trade with nations at war. He expressed himself as hopeful there will be no general European war.

The meeting was the most widely attended yet held. There were seven Oregon counties represented by 26 persons from 12 cities and towns; eleven Washington counties with 64 persons from 18 cities and

It's our family's whiskey, neighbor—and neighbor, it's your price!

ME AND TWO OF THE BOYS AT THE SIDEBORD

In our house you'll always find our Family's Whiskey setting on the sideboard. Always drink in the open, I tell the boys. I've got three boys you know—all helping with the Wilken Family Whiskey. This shows my sons Harry Jr. and William—and then there's my son-in-law, Tom.
Harry E. Wilken, Sr.

In this here prize recipe you'll taste what making 380 million gallons taught me!

Yes sir, you're tasting the real family's whiskey of us Wilkens—and you can bet your boots I've put all the knack I got out of my 40 or so years of experience into it! But knack's not all there is to it—not by a jugful. It's the care and bother you put into it—kicking up plenty of fuss if your grains don't come right up to snuff—getting your mash just so—taking your time putting it through real slow. It's nursing it along every inch of the way! If you ever happen to be up our way, just drop in up to the distillery. You'll find me and the boys watching over our Family's Whiskey from 6 a. m. till quitting time. And when you taste how licking good it is, I miss my guess if you don't say the Wilkens done mighty well by you. That's what everybody seems to be saying anyway!
