Rufus News

By mutual agreement the losing side of an attendance and merit contest in our local Sunday school were to entertain their victors by a party given for their benefit. The entertaining side led by Mrs. Langford entertained the winners whose leader was Mrs. Clark, at the Langford home.

The first competitive basketball games of the season played by Rufus at Grass Valley last Friday were not only inspiring at their conclusion for the Rufus teams but the results were rather unexpected by both sides. The boys game, in particular, was expected to be comparatively close, which it was, as the Rufus team was led by a single point at some time during the game although the final score showed a total of 23 to Grass Valley's 18 points.

The game between the Grass Valley girls and the Rufus basketballers could not compare with the other games as it apparently was a decisive victory for Rufus 31 to 5.

Last Friday was, indeed, a day dedicated to sport. The grade youngsters met worthy rivals from Wasco in a basketball game in the afternoon. After a hard fought conflict—it surely wasn't a sham, the grade ball tossers boasted a narrow, hard won victory of 14 to 13.

The owners of Fleck Orchards Camp Ground have just completed and are now painting three new camp cabins constructed to accommodate anticipated tourist trade next summer and perhaps forthcoming summers in the future.

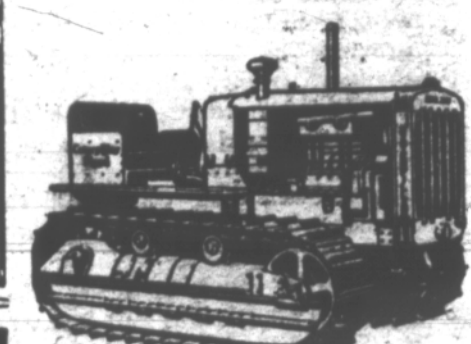

Future social activities include various Christmas parties and programs of which visible preparations are evident. The Rufus school presents "The Return of the Magi" under the direction of Miss Ashbaugh Miss Murdock, and Mr. McKenzie, Wednesday, December 23, at eight o'clock. The school children with parts in the entertainment are being prepared as fast as possible to fit into their respective places in the program.

The Rufus Sunday school is preparing to present a program December 20, at the church and with the equipment and material they obtain, Mrs. Clark, the promoter, and the Sunday school will be well prepared for the presentation next Sunday evening.

I'll Never Farm without a "Caterpillar" says this farmer who bought a Diesel RD4

Oct. 23, 1936

Dear Sirs:
I bought a "Caterpillar" RD-4 on March 3rd, 1936, and after farming my two sections since then I am sure that I will never farm without a "Caterpillar".

My total fuel cost to date is $118.00. My work this season on 1 section consisted of: plowing using two 3-bottom 16 inch plows; weeding twice; harrowing 3 times; and drilling. The other section I combined using a 14 ft. machine.

Before I bought this "Caterpillar" I farmed with one of the best bunches of mules in this country and I hated to part with them, but now I would go back to mules only if someone gave me the mules and furnished the feed for them.

Yours very truly,
Emmett Taylor.
