Moro School

By Wyman French

Moro played four basket ball games during the week end winning two and losing two. The boys were beaten by rather large scores. The girls easily defeated Kent but their Saturday night game with Dufur was certainly no cinch. Moro started out way ahead but in the closing minutes Dufur took the lead and Moro was just catching up when the game ended. The score for the girls was 29 to 28 in their favor.

The grade school put on their annual Christmas play this year. The 7th and 8th grades acted out the "Christmas Brownie" which had to do with the selfishness of one of hte boys in a large family. The remaining grades put on a program consisting of songs by certain groups and short skits which were introduced by Santa Claus and Mrs. Santa.

A dance was given last Wednesday night for the high school and alumni. The hall was decorated with the Christmas motif. There were two trees in the hall and colored lights decorated the rest of the hall. The music was supplied by an orchestra from The Dalles. The dance was sponsored by the student body as a whole.

School was dismissed Wednesday afternoon for the Christmas holidays.

Domestic grain markets made further gains during the week ended December 11, influenced principally by strength in wheat, which reflected sharply higher prices abroad and heavy European buying of Southern Hemisphere grain, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Wheat futures at Chicago advanced to the highest point in five years and cash grain moved upward with premiums well maintained at most markets. Rye advanced about 2½ cents per bushel with a continued active inquiry for current offerings. Corn strengthened with wheat but increased offerings and some slackening in demand at the higher price level, held gains to around 1 cent per bushel at the principal Central Western markets. Oats continued firm with a good shipping and feeder inquiry for the limited offerings. Barley gained with other grains with feed types in more active request than malting barley. Flax seed advanced about 3 cents per bushel, influenced by higher quotations on Argentine seed and a good demand from domestic crushers.

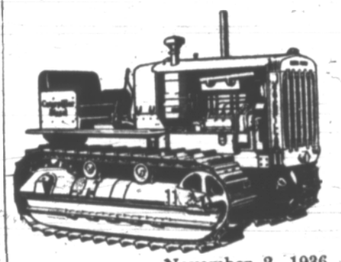
Built to do the job

Says Mr. Carstens



November 2, 1936

Dear Sirs:

I began farming my 800 acre farm with a "Caterpillar" RD-6 May 6, 1936, and have plowed 400 acres using seven 16-inch plows with 10 ft. of steel harrow behind; rod-weeded and harrowed 600 acres; seeded 400 acres; harrowed 960 acres. and combined 400 acres, with a 20 ft. machine.

In doing this work I have used 1,050 gallons of Diesel fuel. 54 gallons of oil and approximately 250 pounds of grease.

I have been very much pleased with the way this machine handles my Combine, which weighs approximately 17,000 pounds, and am convinced that your tractors are built to do the job.

Yours very truly,
Walter Carstens

More than 20,000 "Caterpillar" Diesels are now at work .... more than all other makes combined. There are good reasons for this decided buyers preference for "Caterpillar."

"Caterpillar" Tractors are built to maintain the standards of quality, for which they have been known for many years.

Each new "Caterpillar" must be better than its predecessor ..... that's what buyers expect ... and what they get.
