New Political Group May Be Important Soon

Much interest is being manifested by leaders of both the dominant political parties in the growth of the Commonwealth Federation movement in Oregon. Sponsored by a group of liberals, including leaders in the ranks of labor and State Grange, the followers of the movement held an organization meeting in Portland Saturday and Sunday attended by delegates from all sections of the state. In addition to the labor and the farmer delegates those present included a liberal sprinkling of Workers Alliance members and Townsendsites. Under the right kind of leadership it is admitted that the movement bids fair to assume the proportions of a powerful minority holding the balance of political power in the state and one which might well become a real factor in future elections.
