COURT BILL

Who favors the court bill anyway? There are more democratic senators than republican senators opposed to it...

Is this a democracy we have in which a proposal can have allied against it so great a majority and still be passed?

Under this new bill it would be possible for the president to appoint new members of the court on the eve of any decision and by this means bring about any conclusion as to the constitutionality of laws he desires.

The true liberals of the nation are concerned over this preposed step toward dictatorship.

If one believes that this nation should have a government that can be manipulated by one man he should be for the court proposal.

MARKET NOTE

Of late there appears to be a returning interest in Republicans although demand for this variety has been very slack since last fall.

There is a possibility that the recent demand has been caused by souvenir hunters who wish to obtain a specimen before they are entirely extinct.

The explanation given the most credence for the increased number of requests for Republicans is that there will be a boom in them as soon as the market becomes stabilized and trends are less moved by fictitious values.

There are those with a Puritan complex who feel that it approaches sinfulness to make work easier and more pleasant.

SCHOOL CONSOLIDATION

The report of the high schools and the non-high school board will undoubtedly, as in the past, cause further talk about consolidation of high schools in the county.

Opponents will find an argument against every one of these proposals. Local pride, nevertheless, is the big reason why it will not be done for many years.

Some day there may be a vote on it and the arguing places will buzz with claim and counter claim and threats of reprisal.

If Bonneville rates are equalized with Grand Coulee and Boulder dams and Washington has the administrator all Oregonians can do will be to pay the bill.

TOUGH GUY

The magazine Pathfinder reports the story of one Peter Garcia who blacked his wife's eye when she called him to get up and go to work.

Mr. Garcia, it appears does not like to go to work early in the morning and furthermore he resents having recalled to him that he is permanently and lawfully attached to a female of his species.

He would have no ambition to dine on silver plates over a lace table cloth; he would not care to be dressed in silk or fine linen.

EASY ON THE BACK

These modern times have taken a strain from the human back bone that may make that useful accessory to mankind in need of a different kind of exercise.

Shorter years ago the farmer rode farm implements that sometimes had a seat and sometimes did not. Now rubber tires are standard equipment on nearly all harvesting machinery and the back bone that used to be exercised into permanent stiffness by balancing on a mower seat is now cushioned by rubber until the ruts of the field are as nothing.

There are those with a Puritan complex who feel that it approaches sinfulness to make work easier and more pleasant.

A word should be said in praise of the west wind at this point in the development of the wheat crop.

People's Column

To the Editor: I feel the urge to try to express my feelings to the person or persons whom so ever they may be for the entertainment I have here at my quarters at one of my Uncle's large homes by having the privilege of reading the Sherman County Journal of which I enjoy ever so much as it is a real letter from home.

Upon my arrival here on June 14 I was met at the door by an escort who took it upon himself to show me through the place. I was taken before many doctors who showed a great interest in my welfare.

Likewise many other useful articles are brought at your request. On the morning of the 24 of June I awoke from somewhat of a deep sleep half bewildered.

Oregon residents paid out a total of $37,629,693 in premiums on life insurance during 1936 and their beneficiaries collected a total of $19,408,292 in claims paid according to the annual report of Hugh H. Earle, state insurance commissioner.

Bids for the construction of a new 50 bed unit at the eastern Oregon tuberculosis hospital at The Dalles will be opened by the board of control on July 22.

In Other Days

From the Observer July 19, 1918. Nominating petitions, circulated by friends of R. J. Ginn are being freely signed in all sections of the county for his nomination to the office of county commissioner on the republican ticket to succeed E. D. McKee.

Eugene Amidon, wife and two younger children have returned from a seven weeks visit to their old home in northern Michigan, their first visit in 13 years.

Mrs. T. S. Reese and daughter Mary have returned from a visit at Salem. D. E. Stephens and C. E. Hill of the Sherman county experiment station are attending a conference of experiment station workers at Corvallis on the 18, 19 and 20 of this month.

Editor's note: We don't know what they cut out of Allan, but it wasn't his sense of humor.

STATEHOUSE GOSSIP

Prospect of federal aid for the proposed new state tuberculosis hospital to be located in Multnomah county received a severe setback this week with announcement by the Public Works Administration that no new applications would be considered.

A word should be said in praise of the west wind at this point in the development of the wheat crop. The Old Timer, who has long since gone to his reward, used to say that there was moisture in the west wind, and perhaps there is for wheat ripens slowly and colorfully and profitably under the influence of west wind.

Ed Aldrich of the Pendleton East Oregonian says that the supreme court made a mistake when it declared the AAA unconstitutional and he favors the change now proposed.

There may be practical possibilities in a trade route over the north pole but they are not readily apparent to the ordinary citizen although there is no disparaging the bravery and hardihood needed to make the long trip.

The committee of nine stockmen appointed by the Board of Control to consider blocking of state school lands filed its report this week. Two major recommendations are contained therein. One calls for the blocking of lands around private holdings and in a size to suit the needs of the private owner.

Complete vindication of his stand with respect to the organization of state employees is found by Governor Martin in the identical stand taken by President Roosevelt this week with respect to the proposal to unionize federal employees.
