Science Battles Infantile Paralysis

NEW YORK, N. Y.—As humanitarians of two continents cheer one of the most dramatic fights medical science ever has waged to preserve life—the case of Frederick B. Snite, Jr., infantile paralysis victim who faces seven years in an iron lung—hope that the long battle for control of the disease may be nearing success is expressed by those engaged in research.

Aided by funds from the President's Birthday Ball Commission for Infantile Paralysis Research, Dr. Sidney David Kramer, of the Long Island College of Medicine, reports hopeful tests for prevention of the disease with nose sprays conducted on monkeys.

Members of the commission are Colonel Henry L. Doherty, chairman; Jeremiah Milbank, vice-chairman; Paul de Kruif, secretary; Edward S. Harkness, treasurer; Mrs. Nicholas Brady, John S. Burke, Edsel B. Ford, Lessing Rosenwald and Felix M. Warburg.

During the past four years the National Birthday Ball for the President has raised more than $4,000,000 for the fight against infantile paralysis. Colonel Doherty has been national chairman of the movement since its inception.

Hi-Ways to Health

by ADA R. MAYNE
OREGON DAIRY COUNCIL

Is there a man with soul so dead that he doesn't enthuse over home baked bread or rolls? For that matter, everyone enjoys hot rolls and if they're home made so much the better.

If a woman can bake really good rolls she has established her reputation as a superior cook among all the housewives of the community. For not everyone can be successful with rolls - and probably for that reason only a few try.

Somehow, with the advent of commercially made bread and rolls at a reasonable price, baking in the home has become unpopular. Considered quite definitely old-fashioned.

Labor saving devices and a large number of commercially made products previously produced in the home done much to emancipate the housewife. But as a result children are missing many experiences dear to the hearts of adults.

And one of these, so often commented upon, is the memory of opening the front door to the sweet fragrance of baking bread. None could wish a return of the "Good Old Days" for the modern housewife. But these same labor saving devices should provide leisure time which would make an occasional batch of rolls a real pleasure.
