

A Queen and Two Kings

Queen of the Pendleton Round-Up, September 16, 17, and 18 is Her Highness Cathryn the First; kings of cowboy sports are Ike Rude and Carl Arnold, who last year tied for the $5,000 Sam Jackson trophy, for the best all-round cowboy. They'll defend their titles at this year's show. The trophy must be thrice won for permanent possession and Ike won it also in 1931. First offered in 1930, this is the first tie in the trophy's history.

Plenty of Men

A southern Irish soldier in France during the war received a letter from his wife saying there wasn't an able bodied man left, and she was going to dig the garden herself.

Pat wrote at the beginning of his next letter: "Bridget, for goodness sake don't dig the garden; that's where the guns are."

The letter was duly censored, and in a short time a lorry load of men in khaki arrived at Pat's house and proceeded to dig the garden from end to end.

Bridget wrote to Pat saying that she didn't know what to do as the soldiers had got the garden all dug up, every bit of it.

Pat's reply was short and to the point: "Put in the spuds!"—Edinburgh Dispatch.

Opportunity

The father was marching up and down at midnight, with an infant in his arms, when there came a knock at the door. It was the tenant from below, carrying a pair of new shoes.

"I say, old man," he said, "while you're about it, you might break these in for me."—Tit-Bits.

Final Returns From Wheat Crop Watched

Uncertainty as to final crop outturns remained the dominant influence in the wheat situation.

Harvesting of the domestic spring wheat crop made good progress and will probably be completed in the next two weeks. The amount of damage suffered by the crop from heat and rust is still uncertain but trade agencies estimated production from August 1 conditions around 25,000,000 bushels under the July 1 official estimates.

Carry over of old wheat in the United States at the first of July was estimated at 91,113,000 bushels, the smallest stock since 1919.

Harvesting of spring wheat started in the Canadian Prairie Provinces with little change in prospects. Outturns in Manitoba are expected to be above average but a great part of the acreage in Saskatchewan will yield nothing but feed. Low average yields are in prospect in Alberta even though July rains gave new life to crops. Trade estimates indicate a harvest of only about 161,000,000 bushels for the three provinces compared with 212,000,000 bushels harvested in 1936. European prospects are quite variable. In France, threshing returns indicate yields 15 to 20 percent below a year ago. Prospects remain poor in Germany and reports of yields in Italy are disappointing. Above average yields are reported in the Balkin states and large crops are expected in Scandinavian countries. Dry weather continued to delay seeding in Northern sections of Argentina and general rains were needed in Australia where crops on stubble lands were deteriorating.
