Moro School

By Lois Melzer.

On October 22 both the boys' and girls' teams of Moro were victorious over Kent. The girls score was Kent; 3, Moro 42. The boys won by 31 points, with the score of 41-10.

Last Friday, October 29, the two teams and some rooters went to Clatsop to see what promised to be two exciting games. The boys' game was played first, with Moro coming out on top, 31-11. Rufus defeated the Moro girls by a score of 25-14. All the teams played excellent, and the two games were extremely close, therefore holding the audience's closest attention all the time. After the games, every one enjoyed pie and dancing, both offered by the Rufus student body.

I.E.S. Lamps make seeing easy!
...and they add beauty to your home!

One of the most popular I.E.S. lamps is the bridge model. It fits in nicely by easy chair or davenport. The translucent bowl makes the light soft and glareless and sends part to the ceiling for general illumination. The model illustrated is available with either parchment or silk shade. The standard has silver and gold finish and a useful night light in the base.

tor, Kenneth Barnett; social editor, Wanda Tiller; advertising editor, Vera Gervais; joke editor, Bill Todd; music, Virginia Huhman; The subscription fee will be 75c; a single copy will cost 15c. The name will remain the same as it has been "Tiger Tattler." The first issue will be published about the middle of November.

At our meeting we also decided that it would be a good idea to have a carnival. It will be given about the middle of November in the Grass Valley gym.

A halloween party was held at the school house Wednesday, October 27th. The Woman's Club furnished the refreshments of doughnuts and cider. The gym was attractively decorated with pumpkins, cats and witches. Sides were chosen and a variety of games were played with the reward for the winning side being given an all day sucker for each member.

Those who made the honor roll: Eilene Hogue, Bill Todd, Dolores Simon, Ramona Spoor, Wanda Tiller, Anita Dunlap and Willard Olds.

Mrs. Marigold--You used to say I was the light of your life.
Marigold--Yes, but I didn't know then that you were going to get put out of every little thing.

Boogy--Why, man, I've forgotten more than you ever knew.
Woogy--So that's it. I thought you'd met with some such misfortune as that.
