Garden Truck Liked By Home Life Committee

Sufficient garden, livestock and poultry to meet basic needs is the goal of the Sherman county farm families who are cooperating in the rural rehabilitation program of the Farm Security Administration, USDA, announces Milburn A. Stout, county supervisor, 2 Frans Building, Hood River.

Many farm families in the FSA program have demonstrated that on farms producing most of the home food supply, from $200 to $300 is added to the cash income, making additional money available for cash living expenses and operating costs.

Farm plans set up with each rehabilitation loan provide for enough garden to supply most of the fruits and vegetables, a poultry flock for eggs and meat, hogs for home butchering, and cows to supply milk and butter needs for the family.

Plans worked out in cooperation with the homemakers include food budgets for the family based on fullest utilization of home produced foods through canning and preserving for storage as well as fresh use. Sound farm and home plans as well as supplying food needs on the farms are playing an important part in the high rate of repayment on rehabilitation loans in the county, said Mr. Stout. The agricultural extension service cooperates with FSA in providing information and demonstrations on approved farm and home practices.

Governor Martin and Tax Reduction

When a candidate for Governor four years ago, Charles H. Martin nailed the following plank to his platform:

Tax Reduction Through Administrative Reforms and Retirement of the State's Bonded Debt.

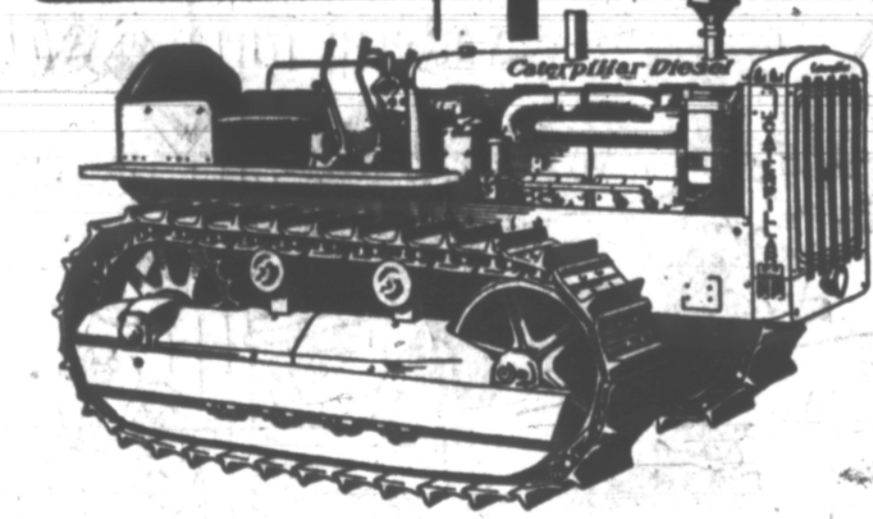

Today the Governor can point to an achievement of those ends— and in spite of the cost of constructing a new State Capitol.

His budgetary control Act has made balanced budgets possible, enabled him to turn an inherited deficit of $1,300,000 into a surplus of $500,000 and relieve real property of taxation for State purposes.

The bonded debt of the state has been reduced from $54,626,000 to $45,566,000 and the continuation of a like annual reduction will result in the retirement, before many years, of all outstanding State bonds.

Now! Smaller Diesels
If you have use for a tractor of any size see the "Caterpillar" Diesels before you buy. The new D-2 34 plow Diesel runs on 1 1-4 gallons of fuel per hour... and there are larger sizes to fit every farming need.
