DEMOCRACIES HAVE POWER

University of Oregon, April — The "mineral axis" which runs from the northeastern part of the United States across England into France, rather than the "Rome Berlin axis" is the most important in the world today, and distribution of minerals, including oil, will have more to do with victory in the next world war than any other factor, it was declared by Dr. Warren D. Smith, head of the geography and geology departments at the University of Oregon, in a recent address over radio station KQAC.

Democratic nations control about 70 per cent of the world's supply of iron, coal, oil, copper, lead, nitrates, sulphur, tin, aluminum, manganese, nickel, chromite, tungsten, potash, phosphates, antimony, zinc, mercury and mica, Dr. Smith points out. Since the totalitarian states lack many of these in substantial quantities they would be severely handicapped in any long drawn out conflict.

The irregular distribution of minerals is the chief cause of world trouble today, Dr. Smith stated, and the only solution for war lies in scientific ways and means of making these materials available for industry in all countries.

Cannot the men who can weigh and analyze distant stars, sound depths of oceans, and create all the wonderful compounds of chemistry some day come to solve social and economic problems too? When we get tired of letting ward heeler and profiteers play fast and loose with our resources and even our lives, we will turn to the scientists and engineers and have done with the terrible and blundering of the past!

Some of the longest trains seen on this branch line in years have been going down the track toward Portland in the past two weeks because of the almost universal urge to sell wheat while the price is a cent or two above the amount loaned on it last fall. Each station is loading what as fast as cars can be obtained and it is expected that when all the wheat now ordered shipped is moved the warehouses will be as bare as they have been for several years past.

Traffic Safety Program Launched

WASHINGTON—A new "Safety With Light" program, designed to abate night driving traffic hazards on America's "fatal" streets has been announced by the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce through its President, Philip C. Ebeling. America's fatal streets are the main traffic thoroughfares which comprise but 10% of the total city street mileage but upon which occur more than 50% of all night traffic fatalities.

The first copy of the "Safety With Light" Manual was presented to President Roosevelt through his secretary, Stephen J. Early, by Mark S. Matthews, Vice-President of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce. The Manual will now be distributed to the 500 member organizations of the Junior Chamber and the approximately 1,100 Senior Chambers of Commerce in the nation.

According to Mr. Matthews, the new manual is an outgrowth of the report of the National Resources Committee, appointed by the President in 1937, in which it was stated that at least 35% of all night traffic deaths could be prevented by provision of modern, adequate street illumination. Other surveys have shown that night illumination in most cities is less than one half the minimum required for safety.

"Until antiquated lighting facilities on most of our city streets are corrected and modernized, the ever increasing rate of urban night fatalities will continue," said Kenneth L. Dally, Chairman of the Traffic Safety Committee of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce. "This program, probably the most complete of its kind ever set up, is designed to point the way to correct these conditions."

And it makes available, without charge, all material, including booklets, folders, car cards, films, etc., to our member organizations."

As a result of the manual, several hundred Senior Chambers of Commerce are expected to carry on local "Safety With Light" campaigns within the next two or three years, according to Mr. Ebeling, who added:

"The conditions of inadequate visibility might be accepted if the result were not inevitably the same—death; and if provision of adequate illumination in this modern day were not available, entirely practical, and so essential, that to neglect or be without it is sheer negligence."

THE RECORD... Facts That Concern You

THE STORY OF RELIEF FROM RELIEF

FOR OVER 100,000 FARM WORKERS AND FARMERS—JOBS AND A MARKET MADE BY BEER

FOR A MILLION BREAD WINNERS:
A MILLION JOBS MADE BY BEER

FOR 130 MILLION TAX-PAYERS (ALL OF US) A GREAT NEW HELP SINCE 1933 IN CARRYING INCREASING TAX BURDENS

BEER... a beverage of moderation

FROM coast to coast, Beer has helped in putting men back to work... into a million new jobs in six short years. Beer also each year buys the produce of 8,000,000 acres of farmland and pays a million dollars a day in taxes.

The brewers want to preserve these economic benefits. They want also to protect the public's right to enjoy beer and their own right to make and market it.

The brewing industry cannot enforce the laws. But they are cooperating with public officials to see to it that the retailing of beer gives no offense to anyone.

We would like to send you a booklet that describes the Foundation's unusual program of self-regulation. Address: United Brewers Industrial Foundation, 19 East 40th Street, New York, N. Y.
