'Worthless' Outchews Goldfish Eaters

HI-WAYS TO HEALTH
by ADA R. MAYNE
OREGON DAIRY COUNCIL

With the approach of summer we find the homemaker giving more attention to the question of salads. This, no doubt, because it is the season when salad materials are abundant and cheap and because they can be prepared with little effort and time. But there is more to this question of salads than mere convenience. Salads merit an important place in meal planning because the very stuff that they are made of is important in the diet as protective foods-- that is high in minerals and vitamins.

Leafy, green vegetables are rich in both iron and vitamin A. The thinner and greener the leaf, in fact, the richer they are in both. Green leaves are also excellent sources of vitamin G. Thrown in for good measure are considerable amounts of vitamin C and vitamin B. Vegetables, and fruits too, contribute bulk or roughage some of which is usually desirable in the diets of persons in normal health.

Just which of the many leafy and green vegetables the homemaker serves her family is not especially important, as long as she serves some kind of the year round. Certain varieties, of course fit in better with limited budgets than others because they supply the same minerals and vitamins more economically.

Such greens as watercress, endive, lettuce and cabbage are the salad family. Other tender, mild-flavored leaves may also be served uncooked. Spinach, for instance, may be mixed with pieces of fresh tomato, sliced, hard cooked egg, bits of crisp bacon and the family's favorite dressing, to make a colorful, nutritious salad.

While the ingredients combined in salads are numberless the essentials are two and they are always the same: eye appeal and a perfect dressing. And remember there are almost as many dressings as there are salads to choose from. Here are two that will mean successful salads: Cucumbers with Sour Cream Dressing

- 2 medium cucumbers
 - 1 1/4 tsp salt
 - 22 tbsp white vinegar
 - 1 cup thick sour cream
 - 1 tbsp minced onion
 - 1/4 tsp granulated sugar
 - Speck pepper.
- Pare and slice the cucumbers and sprinkle with 1/2 cup of the salt. Let stand for 30 minutes; then press out any excess water between pieces of cheese cloth. Meanwhile combine the remaining ingredients and mix with the cucumbers. Serves 6 to 8.
- Buttermilk Dressing
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise dressing
 - 1/2 tsp lemon juice
 - juice of 1-2 onion
 - 1/4 tsp mustard
 - 1/8 tsp white pepper
 - 1/8 tsp paprika
 - 1 cup thick fresh buttermilk
- Stir all the ingredients into the unbeaten buttermilk. It's delicious served with a salad of fresh cabbage, apples, lettuce and finely cut uncooked spinach.

The two survivors of a shipwreck, a seaman and a stockbroker, managed to clamber onto a raft.

"If a ship doesn't sight us soon, sir," said the seaman, "we'll starve."

"Don't talk nonsense," snapped the stockbroker, "I've plenty of money."

Oregon Graduates Hear Brooks

Senior and graduate students of the University of Oregon, who in record numbers will receive degrees this year, will observe baccalaureate service, for which the university has obtained R. Raymond C. Brooks, Los Angeles, noted educator and minister, will be held Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The commencement exercises, at which time approximately 700 degrees will be conferred, will be in the evening at 8 o'clock. Both events will be in McArthur Court.

Taking as his topic, "The Debt We Owe," the university's own president, Dr. Donald M. Erb, will deliver the commencement address. Dr. Erb, who is regarded as a foremost economist as well as administrator, is now completing his first year as president of the institution.

All alumni events will be held on Saturday, June 3. These will include the annual breakfast meeting of the state association of University of Oregon women, the semi-annual meeting of the alumni association at 10:30 a. m., the university luncheon, president reception at 3:30, class reunion dinners at 5:30, and the flower and fern procession at 7:30. The annual Failing-Beekman oratorical contest, for which seniors compete for prizes of $150 and $100 will be held on alumni day this year, Saturday at 8:00 p. m.

Classes that will hold reunions include that of 1889, the 50 year class; 1896 the 40 year class, and 1914, the 25 year class. Members will meet both at luncheon and at their own private dinners in the evening.

A LIFESAVER when prices are DOWN

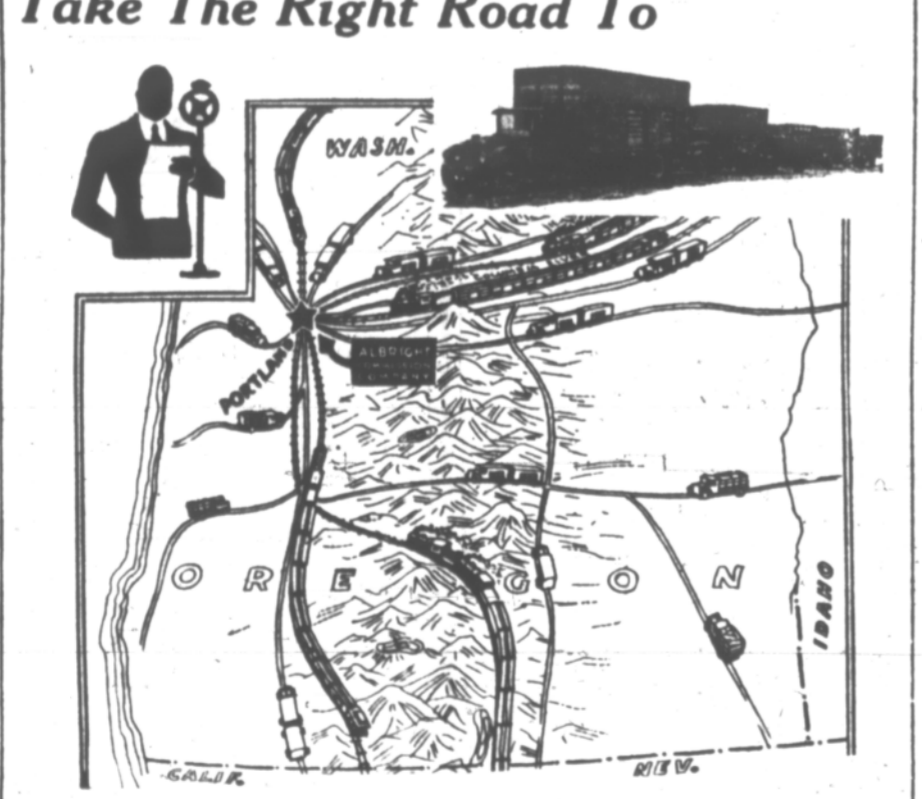

For 34 years Caterpillar Tractor Co. has helped Western farmers overcome tough farming problems by building a tractor that gears itself to the ground and really pulls where wheels fail. In 1931 they pioneered and built the Diesel engine that has already proved itself a lifesaver in the face of low prices. Lots of farmers say the Diesel fuel savings over other power means the difference between profit and loss. Ask for a demonstration on your own farm.
