THOMPSON GOLDEN WEDDING (Continued from page one)

Mr. Thompson, dedicated the following poem to the day:

A Sunset of Gold.

When you and I were young, we Started life's rough path, in heat and cold, onward toward A sunset of gold.

When you and I were young, we Brought blessed ones to our fold. For these we labored hard, as we drifted toward A sunset of gold.

When you and I were young, we Had advise, good and bad, from Young and old. As each day brought us nearer A sunset of gold.

At times discouraged, at times encouraged, Still always to have, and to hold, marching onward to A sunset of gold.

Now we have more time to think, How pleasant to grow old, We stand side by side and give thanks, we have reached The sunset of gold.

It's Saturday Night on the Western Front

War is war, but Saturday night has a tradition. So these British troops take time out for their Saturday night bath. No de luxe accommodations for "Tommy Atkins" today, but wooden tubs and tin palms make a satisfactory substitute for behind-the-line ablutions.

State Property Tax To Be Levied In 1940

It has now been announced that there will be a small tax for state purposes in 1940 after it was considered unnecessary. The tax commission estimated that the income tax would not be sufficient this year without aid from a property tax. The elementary school tax is levied by the state but left in the counties.

While there is no pleasure in the announcement that there will be a state tax, there may be some consolation in the fact that it is small. This county's share is but $2421 out of a total of $301,203.

The increase in the income tax, brought about by higher incomes, and materially aided by stricter collections and elevated rates has made it unnecessary to use property tax money for state purposes for several years. Time was, a few years ago, when this county paid as much as $40,000 to the state.

Next year the income tax will raise more money because of the increased rates. For property owners this is a happy position for they have enough burden to carry county, school and city taxes. The income tax may be made to care for state needs and the federal income and other taxes may be used to provide funds for the federal government if debts can be reduced to a normal amount, although that time be a long ways ahead of us.

BAKER COUNTY GETS WPA Washington, D. C., Nov. 29 Special.—To improve the county road system of Baker county, repair bridges and ditches, landscape, an appropriation of $121,115 is approved by the president for a WPA project. Determination of whether the project will be initiated depends on the available suitable labor and other conditions which must be ascertained by the state WPA administrator, E. J. Griffith.

"In recent years the former export market for this wheat has largely disappeared except on a subsidy basis," explained William A. Schoenfeld, dean and director of agriculture at Oregon State college, who will direct the use of the federally supplied wheat.

"Since 1930 the price of wheat in Oregon and the Pacific northwest has dropped to the point where it is actually on a feed grain basis. Oregon produces annually a million lambs and more than two hundred thousand head of beef cattle and calves, many of which are fattened out side of the state. We also produce more than 13 million bushels of wheat annually above normal Oregon requirements. By bringing these two facts to bear on each other we hope that both industries will be helped."

WHEAT SITUATION

Developments in the Southern Hemisphere were becoming of increasing importance in the general wheat situation. Despite the better weather in recent weeks further deterioration is reported in the Argentine crop, which according to private estimates, may total only 200 million bushels this season compared with nearly 340 million bushels for the 1933-39 season. The Argentine wheat acreage this season is now estimated at 17,833,000 acres or approximately 3 million acres less than the final estimate for the 1933-39 crop. Exports from the old crop during the week were fairly large and totaled 4,345,000 bushels. Prospects in Australia remain generally steady with most trade reports placing the 1939-40 harvest slightly above the previous year's output. Growers are reported as agitating for an increase in the guaranteed price but the slow demand for Australian wheat because of the long shipping distance to European buyers are asking for a small export movement of Australian wheat.

Little information is available as to European markets because of war restrictions. Clear wheat favor'd field work in the Balkan States but seeding was still backward in some sections. Planting was progressing actively in Germany but in most sections of Western Europe the ground remained too wet for seeding, which progressed slowly with indications that much land will be left for spring cereals. In Belgium, the quantity of native wheat in milling mixtures was raised to 25 per cent effective November 27. Arrivals of foreign wheat were reported more nearly normal following recent light arrivals resulting from delays caused by war measures.

Baker Co. in Contest

Each state championship county will be awarded a plaque made of Oregon juniper wood to be presented at the Condon meeting, while the national winner will receive a large glass globe filled with select Oregon wheat and mounted on a base of polished myrtle wood.

The contest resulted in so much national interest being taken in the meeting of the Eastern Oregon Wheat League that a considerable number of states raised money to send a representative of their winning county to the convention. As a result, states which have definitely appointed delegates include Montana, Kansas, Texas, Wyoming, Idaho, Washington and Oregon. Other states which have made tentative arrangements to send delegates are Nebraska, South Dakota, Oklahoma, Utah and California.
