CAKE FINDS HOPE

Constantly increasing interest in Republican success this fall is reported by Ralph H. Cake, candidate for Republican national committee man after a highly satisfactory trip through the Willamette valley and southern Oregon. "After visiting every county in the state, I am much impressed with the growing demand for Republican success this year," Cake said. "This condition coincided with the situation in Pennsylvania, New York and the midwest as I found it on business trips there in the last two months."
