NO FAITH

From Washington D. C. comes the word that Henry Wallace, now second man on the new deal ticket, and others of the radical group around the president have boldly discussed, as late as the recent new deal convention in Chicago the probable necessity of establishing a dictatorship in the United States for a short period of time at least.

This, so says the correspondent, is to be done because of the belief by those in authority in this country that a democracy cannot function in an emergency fast enough to combat the threatened danger.

The import of all this is that the present leaders of this land have no faith in the form of government they are pledged by their oaths to uphold and defend and intend to supplant it by another form of government which will give more authority to them and less to the people.

ABILITY TO GOVERN FIRST

The history of the past year for both the United States and the world, while it has been a sad disappointment to civilized people, may have the effect of aiding an educational endeavor that has been seriously neglected in recent times in our own land.

We have failed in our teaching of history and government with the result that each generation must make the same mistakes as the previous one. Our young mechanics don't have to start in with a carved wooden wheel and work up to diesel engines by their own mental processes. Yet in governmental matters we are fighting over the same things that the hairy ape fought for.

One of the first duties of civilized men is the ability to govern themselves, to have a satisfactory kind of law and order. Without that material possessions such as bath tubs, automobiles, safety razors and finger nail polish are not much good.

NOW THAT WE HAVE A QUEEN

There yet remains three weeks of work for the girls who would be queen and rule over the crowds at the Sherman County Fair. If six remain in the race until the end only one of them will be without the gay garb of a queen during the fair; four will be princesses and ride with the queen.

The advent of royalty in this county is an innovation. Heretofore we have held our celebrations with few exceptions, without having anyone but the marshall of the day to direct our movements. This new situation may demand that we do something to fit ourselves for a new sort of program.

When we have the contest all over and the queen duly named, there may be some inquiring soul who will want to know what we are going to do with a queen now that we have one.

This means that somebody, fair board, queen committee, civic club, or other group may well be thinking of the queen's place on the fair program. Is she to be publicly crowned? Shall the queen and her court see the show from the grandstand or from horses, and if so where shall the horses be put? Queens usually have a male attendant, a prime minister, or someone to accompany her on formal occasions. On whose shoulders is this honor to fall?

Here is an opportunity for someone who knows their royalty and how to treat it or them.

SCHOOL AGAIN

September 9, just three weeks from next Monday, the school bell will ring again. Well brushed youngsters will walk the streets with faces shining through the summer's tan, and with new shirts and dresses, all ready to start another year's work in the accumulation of knowledge.

These next weeks until that day will seem slow indeed to the boys, and girls whose vacation is ending as the first weeks after school ended seemed slow with the long summer stretching out in sunny magnificence before them. Now these will be school again and other children to play with, a pleasure that few children have outside of school in these small family days.

With army pay now at $30 per month the soldier or sailor will be better paid than the average man in civil life. He will have no responsibility toward himself being assured of good food, good lodging and good clothes. The government estimates that each soldier uses up more than $1200 per year in pay and allowances and that is much better than the average man makes.

Delay in finding an acceptable means of getting some men into the army is naturally laid to fear of politicians of the coming elections. When the people find out they have been used for political purposes in this war business there will be some political doings too, we bet.

In Other Days

From the Observer Aug. 18, 1911

The weather in Sherman county is ideal for harvesting, and good progress is being made, the grain is of usual good quality, free from smut and there is no longer a doubt but that the county will produce more bushels of wheat this year than last.

Mrs. G. W. Berrian is visiting at the home of her parents in Portland, celebrating the birthday anniversary of her father. George had too many harvest-irons in the fire to accompany her.

W. C. Bryant has recently purchased the J. P. Stahl brick on First street. One half of the building will be used by Bryant & Wheldon for law offices. The other half will be the home of the Sherman County Abstract Co., in part of which Alex Hunter will have his real estate office. In this deal P. H. Buxton becomes the owner of the M. G. Ellis residence property on McCoy Avenue.

The parents of Geo. E. Lewellen are here on a visit from Portland, which they are enjoying very much. Last Sunday all wet-guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Powell for dinner.

A car load of extra fine Rock spring lump coal just received by the Tum-a-lum lumber company at the Moro branch.

From the Observer Aug. 19, 1921

Mrs. D. E. Stephens sprained her ankle quite badly Tuesday evening while on her way to the opera house. The lacerated ligaments will necessitate complete rest for a few days.

Engineer Wall has his men busy at work on the new location of the Sherman Highway north of Moro. At the present time they are blasting a rock cut near town. As soon as this is finished grading will begin in earnest.

At the congregational meeting last Sunday morning Rev. Henry G. Hanson of Grants Pass was called by the voice of the people to serve the Presbyterian church of Moro as stated supply for one year, beginning October 1.

Mrs. C. R. Belshie and daughter Jessie were guests during the week at the home of Mrs. I. E. Fields at The Dalles.

Attorney W. C. Bryant has been absent this week attending a meeting of the State Normal board of regents at Salem.

Mrs. S. P. Brisbane left Sunday for Hillsboro where she was called by the serious illness of her sister.

Grass Valley Journal Aug. 19, 1921

Steve Hayes was up from Portland the fore part of the week looking after his farming interests here.

P. N. Lemon has been with us this week looking after his interests. They are now located in Portland at 175 Blandena street.

Hugh Shull of the Ferry Canyon district, has delivered some Turkey Red wheat at the Farmers Elevator which weighs 63 pounds to the bushel. It is said he will have some 15,000 sacks this year - Condon Globe-Times.

It was a very fine rain which came Saturday evening, the harvesters only losing a fourth of a day Saturday and half a day Sunday. We sure needed it as far as the dust was concerned although it put some machines back a little in getting the crop harvested.

Mrs. Frank von Borstel went to Kondeike Monday morning to visit her parents there. Lillian and Minnie Schassen were out from The Dalles over Sunday to visit their sisters here. J. F. Rees and wife of Portland returned home the last of the week. Several of the Kent farmers have finished the harvest and with a few days of good weather all will be done. Some wheat has been sold around 95c.

being rugged and dangerous with frequent fogs, and the changing of a few navigation markers could cause a warship to pile up on the rocks.

There is, in truth, little foundation for the wild reports that Russia is fortifying on the east coast of Asia across the straits of Alaska. What the Russians are doing is establishing a weather bureau observation point.

standards among the Coast states. The new Oregon grades are based on two sets of standards, one for summer and fall pears, and the other for winter pears, instead of only one, as under the old regulations.

New grades for late pears are: U. S. extra No. 1 or Oregon extra fancy; and U. S. No. 1; U. S. No. 2 or Oregon fancy; U. S. combination grade; Oregon commercial, and Oregon unclassified.

The commercial grade is a combination of fancy and extra fancy, of which at least half must meet the requirements of Oregon extra fancy. The combination grade is half No. 1 and half No. 2.

New grades established for early pears are: Extra fancy; fancy; unclassified, and combination. The U. S. standards for these pears may be used as optional grades.

On the plea of Dr. John C. Evans, superintendent of the Oregon state hospital, that the institution is badly understaffed, the state board of control authorized the appointment of an additional psychiatrist.

Dr. Evans also urged the employment of a parole supervisor in Portland as a measure to prevent the return of parolees to the state hospitals.

Dr. Evans said that many patients are discharged before they are entirely cured because of the overcrowded conditions at the hospitals and the appointment of a parole supervisor in Portland would greatly aid in control of the discharged patients.

Completion of the new state highway route through Oregon City, eliminating the traffic jammed "bottleneck" there, one of the worst on the whole Pacific highway, has been set for the middle of September by the state highway department.

The project, which was delayed for years by right-of-way litigation, will also relieve the situation for Oregon City residents. Their Main street will not have to carry through truck and passenger traffic when the new highway is opened.

Under a reciprocal agreement adopted by the state of Alabama, Oregon nurserymen may ship their stock into that state without paying a permit charge, the department of agriculture has been advised.

Non-resident motor vehicle registration continued to trail the 1939 figures through July, secretary of state Earl Snell announced. Only 27,125 out of state cars were registered coming into Oregon this July as compared with 31,721 cars for July of last year. The cumulative total so far this year is only 74,417 cars compared with the 1939 seven month total of 84,735.

Early forecasts had indicated that tourist travel this year would break all records because of the complete stoppage of travel abroad. Officials are at a loss to explain the decline except as a case of "jitters" caused by war in Europe.

Former Kent Man Married In Valley

Announcement has been made here of the wedding of Frank Sims of Forest Grove, a former resident of Kent, and Miss Doris Darnielle of Portland. The ceremony took place in Portland last Thursday evening.

Bill Gunther of Antelope is here for a few days visit with friends. Mr. and Mrs. George McKay, Mrs. and Mrs. Ernest Smith, Mrs. Jay McKay and Mr. and Mrs. Harley McKay were among local people attending the show in Grass Valley Sunday.

Ruby Cratty visited with Mrs. John Koepke Friday and Saturday. Mrs. J. C. Wilson and Nellie were visitors in The Dalles Saturday. They were accompanied home that evening by Mrs. Ida Davis and Pauline of Moro.

People shopping and visiting in The Dalles Friday included Mrs. Carl Schadewitz and son, Mrs. Roy Barnett, Mary Lou Lyons, J. M. Wilton and Dick, and Mrs. Charles Bothwell.

Literary Exile

His long hair put up in a net, Maurice Maeterlinck, famous Belgian author of "The Bluebird," is shown soon after his arrival in the United States as a war refugee, following the German triumph.

HI-WAYS TO HEALTH by ADA R. MAYNE OREGON DAIRY COUNCIL

Simple meals have more appeal during the summer, should be welcome news for the home maker for planning and serving this type of meal will give her more free hours for a vacation right at home. We all like trying to fool the weather man with refreshing chilled dishes, crisp salads, iced beverages, and frozen desserts--all of which can be prepared ahead of time and are good to peel up lagging summer appetites.

One teaspoon salt, speck pepper and dash of cayenne. Three tablespoons of lemon juice Ten tablespoons of mayonnaise Two cups canned or fresh cooked shrimp

One cup fresh cooked peas Waffles Melt the butter in a double boiler. Remove from heat; add flour and stir until well blended. Add the milk; place over boiling water, and cook, stirring constantly until thick. Add salt, pepper, cayenne, lemon juice, and mayonnaise. Blend thoroughly. Add shrimp and peas and heat well. Serve on waffles. Serves 6.
