Farm Machinery May Be Hard To Get

Faced with a possible shortage of machinery next year, and inability to get prompt delivery of repairs, Oregon farmers are being advised by Robert Taylor of Adams, chairman of the state U. S. D. A. agricultural defense board to make plans now to foresee their 1942 equipment requirements.

The day when a grower can rush to town and buy a new piece of equipment, or even get the right replacement part on a moment's notice, are probably over for the duration of the emergency, says Taylor. On the other hand, the government is making every effort to see that necessary farm machinery and repairs are provided for as adequately as possible through favorable priorities.

A state wide equipment survey recently conducted by county U. S. D. A. defense boards shows that Oregon farmers expect to need more than the usual amount of farm machinery next year, both because of the farm labor shortage and the increased production under the "food for freedom" program.

"The big expansion to cover crop seeds, the need for more feed crops to supply the needed increases in pork, dairy, poultry and beef products, and the general farm labor problems are all factors in the indicated need for more equipment," the defense board chairman said.

The results of the machinery survey will be used to establish new priority ratings for materials to manufacture new equipment classed as absolutely necessary. These priorities, the chairman said, are designed to maintain the existing farm plant at a high level of efficiency by assuring supplies of needed repair and maintenance parts and of essential new equipment. Accordingly, he advises farmers to repair old machinery whenever possible, and to utilize all suitable farm equipment. Purchases of new equipment, he said will best be held to a bare minimum.

Farsighted farmers can head off a lot of harvest time trouble by advance planning now, Taylor declared, pointing out that attention to repairs and ordering of needed parts during the coming winter months will do a lot to prevent hardships arising from shortages or delays next summer.

FARMERS BUY STOCK

A bunch of farmers went out to Lapine Monday and bought 40 head of purebred Hereford cows and brought them home to their Sherman county farms. Jess Landry bought ten, the largest number bought by one man. The cows, some with calves, were loaded in trucks as soon as bought from the Stearns company.

THE RECORD... Facts That Concern You

SOME PEOPLE NEVER LEARN... but most of them do!

There are always a few "smart alecks" who want to stand up and rock the boat. But most people try to keep out of trouble.

The same sort of thing happens in the retailing of beer. The great majority of beer retail establishments are clean, law-abiding and wholesome. But occasionally you may find a "smart aleck" retailer who violates the law or permits anti-social conditions.

We of the brewing industry want these anti-social retailers wiped out! Because they imperil your right to drink good beer...and our right to make it.

We want to protect the benefits that beer has brought to Oregon—employment for 13,238 persons since legalization, an annual payroll of $11,541,550 and taxes of $617,020.86 paid to the state last year.

This state, too, has an important stake in Beer's purchases from over 100 industries supplying the brewing industry with materials, equipment and services.

You can help us in our public-spirited program by (1) patronizing only reputable and legal beer establishments and (2) by reporting any irregularities you may see to the proper authorities.
