Million Red Cross Volunteers Aid Defense Program

Washington, D. C. — Behind the front lines of U. S. defenses more than 1,200,000 Red Cross volunteers are on the job—making surgical dressings, knitting sweaters and giving comfort articles, learning the rudiments of emergency mass feeding and scores of other duties in an all-out effort for national defense.

The largest defense task now being undertaken by Red Cross volunteers is the production of 40,000,000 surgical dressings for the Army and Navy, according to Mrs. Dwight P. Davis, national director of Volunteer Special Services. The million came to the Red Cross at the request of the surgeons general of the Army and Navy and a similar revealed commercial production could provide only ten per cent of the surgical dressings needed.

Home Service volunteers, the Gray Ladies, who are directly concerned with the uniform also are expanding their programs. Mrs. Davis said.

As a preparedness measure, thousands of women throughout the country are learning mass feeding and nutrition as members of the Red Cross Canteen Corps. Tens of thousands are being trained in the Motor Corps to serve as emergency drivers.

Art Barnum is building a dam across Grass Valley canyon about half a mile above his farm house with which he will impound water for irrigation purposes.
