Scientific Facts, Social Gains Measured for Eight Repeal Years

REPORTS of the Federal Government and many other authoritative agencies have provided evidence of improved social and economic conditions and an enlightened public and professional attitude toward the use of alcoholic beverages, in the eight years since Prohibition was repealed. Such benefits were forecast at the time the Nation acted in 1933.

Examples compiled from official sources include the following:

Federal and State revenues from alcoholic beverages have yielded seven and a quarter billion dollars. Of this total, three billion dollars came from legal beer alone, says the United Brewers Industrial Foundation.

Employment increased 25% from 1932 to 1940, building construction is up 163% and retail sales are up 78% since 1932.

Ice cream consumption is up 95%; milk consumption up to 10.6%; coffee up 33%; money spent for soft drinks has trebled.

Bootlegging seizures were reduced 74% since 1929; arrests by Federal agents down 62%.

Alcoholism death rate decreased 31%, according to the Census Bureau, and the 1940 rate—1.9 per 100,000—is the lowest in 19 years.

Deaths from traffic accidents went down 12% on a motor-miles basis, according to the National Safety Council.

Crime rate dropped from 1,645 per 100,000 population in 1932 to 1,566 in 1940, according to the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Among the scientific findings reported in authoritative medical publications are the following compiled by the Brewers Foundation:

"Ardent prohibition workers get cancer with the same frequency as do bartenders." — Dr. James A. Tobey, Fellow of the American Health Association.

"There is no clinical or pharma-

"THANK YOU—from all of us"

"Just before Christmas, we told you that we would appreciate your lending us a hand over the Holiday Season by not sending greetings by Long Distance.

"We asked this in order to help keep the lines available for calls important to defense.

"In spite of all our extra operators could do, there were many more calls than could be handled without delay. We are exceedingly sorry for the delay, but grateful for the friendly cooperation you gave us all through these busy days. Thank you. It really helped a lot.

"We assure you that we will do our level best, under existing conditions, to render you the finest service possible during the coming year."
