From where I sit...
by Joe Marsh
HAPPENED to me only yesterday.
I step on the starter of my car.
Engine turns over O. K. but she won't start.
So I look under the hood just as if I know what's the matter. Tap a few things with a wrench. While I'm standin' there, wondering what to do next, a young soldier stops alongside.
"Need some help?" he asks.
"Got her almost fixed," I says.
"But still she won't start."
"Looks like your carburetor's flooded," he says. "Got a screw driver handy?"
That young soldier knew what he was doin' all right. Went to work just like a professional.
"Sh'll be O.K. now," he says, straightenin' up and smilin'.
Boy's face looked sort of familiar. And darned if that soldier wasn't young Charlie Jenkins from Elm Street. Used to be a round-shouldered kid—one of those jitter bugs you hear about. Say! You wouldn't know him after six months in the Army. Fifteen pounds heavier—straight and tan and real sure of himself. The Army's done a lot for Charlie.
Made a man out of him—and I guess that goes for lots of other young fellows, too.
The other day I read how some folks worry about the soldiers havin' a glass of beer now and then. Well, after seein' Charlie, I don't think there's much cause for people to fret.
Just like Charlie says—"If you can trust us with guns and ships and tanks, I guess you can trust us with a glass of beer once in a while, if we happen to want one."
And I know the beer industry is co-operating with the Army and the law-enforcement officers to see that beer is sold in good, clean, decent places.
From where I sit, this country's never seen a finer, cleaner, better-behaved lot of men than the ones in uniform today... I'm not worryin' about 'em!
