Legislature Changes Fee Requirements

As a result of action taken by the recent legislature, after June 9 the fifty-cent fee charged for the special combination hunting and fishing licenses issued by the state game commission to pioneers, war veterans and old age residents will be changed to one dollar for the combination license or fifty cents for either a hunting or a fishing license if purchased separately. Those applying for their licenses prior to June 9 will be able to get them at the old rate of fifty cents for the combination hunting and fishing license.

The new law also provides that veterans of the Spanish-American war, Boxer rebellion or Philippine insurrection, before being eligible for the special license, will have to comply with the same requirements as other war veterans by having a rating of at least 25 percent service-connected disability and one year's residence in the state immediately prior to time of application for license. However, until June 9, Spanish-American war veterans may still get their licenses for this year under the old law, which requires either an Oregon enlistment or five year's residence in the state.

HI-WAYS TO HEALTH by ADA R. MAYNE OREGON DAIRY COUNCIL

No one expects the homemaker to be on the side lines with so many wartime tasks begging to be done. But she must remember that part of her job in winning the war is to keep her family's health at Grade A level.

There are two armies fighting this war—one at the front and the other behind the lines. The one behind the lines is much larger than the first and consists of the men and women in the war industries and in every production line that keep the men in the armed forces equipped. The responsibility for the health and strength and energy of the second army rests squarely on the homemaker.

No one becomes well nourished by accident so every home maker should have a down to earth working knowledge of modern nutrition. However, nutrition lessons mean nothing unless you take them to the table. One of the important facts you've learned in nutrition classes is that everyone must get enough vitamins, proteins, minerals and so on in the daily diet before they can do much good. Obviously you can't cram a whole day's quota into one meal so each day's meals must be planned a day or two ahead in order to measure up to the national nutrition standards. Just to jog your memory—milk ranks first. Children need one quart and adults one pint or its equivalent each day. As you know, milk is just as nourishing when used in cereals, soups, gravies, main dishes or dessert. Use it in every way you can for milk added to any dish will pile up the food values. One serving of this cream soup provides 1-2 to 2-3 of a cup of milk. It can be used as a luncheon dish or the main dish for dinner and it is a natural for the thermos bottle that goes with a packed and hearty lunch.
