HI-WAYS TO HEALTH

Wartime food problems have brought into sharp focus the importance of milk in its various forms. Ice cream is a nutritious food which is entitled to a regular place on the home menu. Since it is made from milk it contains all the ingredients of milk but in different proportions. Ice cream is a quick source of energy. Its refreshing qualities and important protective values not only make it a most important food but also give it the high degree of popularity it holds with all groups

An average serving of vanilla ice cream furnishes nearly 1-6 of the adult's requirement for calcium as well as generous amounts of the other minerals found in milk. The same high quality milk proteins are present and vitamin A is present in greater amounts than the other vitamins.

We are coming into the summer months, a time of year when ice cream is a frequent dessert choice. The automatic refrigerator may be used to good advantage in the preparation of frozen desserts to supplement the decreased supply of ice cream available to the civilian population. Production has been cut by 35 percent as one means of providing more dry milk butter, cheese for our armed forces and lend-lease. It is good news however, that this great American favorite will still be available although it may not be possible to procure as much as one might like.

Serving "a-la-mode" will make a little cake or pie and a smaller amount of ice cream go farther. Some times when there is a part of a cake left, but not enough to make a dessert for a second meal, it can be made to go farther by serving it as an ice cream sandwich. Serving fruit sauce, crushed berries and the like over ice cream is a pleasant old American custom. Why not reverse the procedure and serve more berries and let the ice cream be the sauce?

The regular use of ice cream or sherbet is one of the best ways of getting more milk into the diet of grown-ups and children alike. Now would be a good time to dig out those recipes for milk sherbet and serve them often. Here is a basic recipe for orange sherbet. Of course, other fruit juices may be used. We suggest using fresh strawberries now that they are soon in season.

ORANGE SHERBET

3-4 cup granulated sugar
3-4 cup water
1 1-4 cups orange juice
Grated rind of 1 orange
1 tbsp lemon juice
1 cup thin cream
1-8 tsp salt 2 egg whites
Boil sugar and water for five minutes. Add orange rind and cook two minutes longer, strain Combine with fruit juices and syrup. Cool, place in tray and freeze until firm. Remove from tray and beat, add salt and cream Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites Return to tray and finish freezing.

LIKE PORK? LUCKY,

If Mrs. America's family likes pork, she's fortunate because she'll find good point buys since most pork cuts remain unchanged in point values. Since there will be less beef available for civilian consumption this month than in the past two months, points for beef have been increased. So it's a wise Mrs America who'll study point charts and find the many cuts of lamb, veal and variety meats which have been given lower point values. In buying these cuts most families will continue to get just about the same amount of meat for their points as in the last ration period. New savings in the cost of meat will be noticed by Mrs. America after June 21 when the roll back on beef, veal, lamb and mutton and fresh pork goes into effect. Processed and smoked pork cuts will be reduced in price on July 5.

An entire mechanized division in motion uses about 18,000 gallons of gasoline every hour, or 4,000 gallons more than the hourly gasoine ration demand of Washington D. C.
