Electricity's Average Price Shows Drop

Average price received by Pacific Power & Light company for residential electricity has dropped nearly 20 per cent. since 1940 and is now at a new low of 2.03 cents per kilowatt-hour, said Paul B. McKee, president, in his November letter to stockholders. Residential and industrial business has

That's right! The average price we get per hour for the work Reddy Kilowatt does for our 59,240 residential customers is now almost 20% LESS than it was in the pre-war year of 1940.

In the 12 months ended September 30, the average amount we received per kilowatt-hour for residential electric service was only 2.03 cents, compared with 2.51 cents three years ago.

What else among the things you buy each month can equal this low-price record?

Our taxes are up, too!

Along with other citizens and self-supporting business enterprises, we are paying more and more in taxes each year, which makes this drop in price really significant.

Our 1943 tax bill will amount to about $1,300,000. More than half of this will go directly to the United States Government, which needs tax revenue more urgently today than ever before in our Nation's history. Our 1943 taxes will be more than ONE-THIRD GREATER than they were in 1940, when we thought $950,374 was quite a chunk of money!

Use electricity wisely, even though it's cheap

In ordinary times we would wind up this story by suggesting you go out and buy added electrical conveniences so you could make even greater use of our low-cost kilowatt-hours.

But not today! Appliance manufacturers are busy 'round the clock on war orders. Copper, steel, nickel, rubber and many other things are on the critical list. Freight cars that used to bring you refrigerators and ranges are loaded to the guards with vital war goods.

So take good care of the electrical equipment you have. Make it last by avoiding wasteful use. Even though there's plenty of electricity available for all essential needs, remember that you can't waste it without wasting part of the useful life of your electrical devices.

BUY WAR BONDS today for the wonderful new electrical comforts and conveniences you'll want to enjoy after victory!
