

Wasco Women See Old Glass; Hear Talk

The Wasco Women's Study club was entertained Friday afternoon at a 1:30 salad luncheon at the country home of Mrs H A White with Mrs John Royce as co-hostess. About 25 were present including Mrs T L Brown, Mrs W E Crawford, Mrs Webster, and Miss Ophelia Feary of The Dalles as guests. Mrs Brown brought samples of old and different types of glassware and had them on display. After the regular business meeting she gave a very interesting and instructive talk on glassware and its manufacture up to the present time. Mrs White brought out a fine sample of Bohemian glass and Mrs Rich showed a liberty bell platter of olden times. All went home to look over their old cherished pieces to see if it corresponded to the aged traditions of glass making.

Mrs Ted Everett had a goiter operation Saturday at the mid-Columbia hospital in The Dalles. Mrs Ralph Scott of Portland came up to take care of her household goods stored here. She spent several days with Rev and Mrs Cannell and returned home Friday.

You have a Cash Dividend Coming on your Electric Bill!

● Early next month you will receive a check like this for your share of a $300,000 "rate dividend" to all PP&L electric customers. The amount of your dividend will be approximately one-half of your average monthly electric bill—and it will be paid by check and not merely a credit on your next bill.

We are taking this unusual step because there is an unusual condition to be dealt with. The war is causing an abnormal demand for electricity at many places on the PP&L system. Just as a few examples, we are serving new war industries, commercial businesses, air fields, training camps, naval bases and supply depots.

And besides serving electricity to all our regular customers, PP&L has been called upon to furnish electricity to a sudden influx of new families in the neighborhood of all these war-caused activities. All this has resulted in an unusual increase in our total volume of business.

You and all the other users of our electric service have a right to share in the benefits of this extra business while it lasts. The question has been "What is a sound way of distributing these benefits?"

After thorough investigation, the Washington Department of Public Service and the Oregon Public Utilities Commissioner have approved this "rate dividend" plan as a fair and practical way to meet a wartime situation.

The check you receive as your share of this $300,000 customer-dividend will reduce further the cost you pay for electricity—which already is only about half national average.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"The war stories I like best, Judge, are the ones by the special writers overseas who live right with our troops. They give us a better idea of how our men react to things going on over there and back here at home."

"I agree with you, Sam. I never miss one of those stories in the papers or magazines. And there's one thing those writers seem to agree on no matter where they are stationed with our men... and that is that the men who have left their homes and families to go away and fight this war don't want to come back and find that prohibition has been put over on them while they were away... either nationally or locally. They have heard about the attempts being made and they resent it bitterly."

"I agree with them, Judge, even though I don't happen to drink myself. Furthermore, I don't think it's fair for us at home to be making any major changes while 10,000,000 of our fighting men are away and have no chance to express their opinions."

It was BUSINESS MANAGEMENT that made these reductions in your electric rates, without calling on the public treasury for help. In fact, PP&L has paid constantly increasing taxes in support of Government while rates were being reduced.
