MEAT ALTERNATES

With the recent change in meat rationing, macaroni, spaghetti, noodles and rice, all good meat extenders, come back into their own. They are among this month's foods in abundant supply.

There are, however, important factors to be considered when these foods are used as the main dish in the worker's meal. A serving of plain macaroni, spaghetti, rice or noodles contains a small amount of protein but not nearly enough to contribute one-third of the daily requirement. Therefore, they should be combined with the high quality protein foods—milk, cheese, meat, poultry, fish or eggs—in order to furnish enough protein for an adequate meal. The dishes that contain neither meat nor a meat alternate, such as spaghetti with tomato sauce or scalloped noodles with vegetables, may be served to accompany meat but should not be used as meat substitutes.

These soft-textured paste products should be combined with foods strong in flavor, vivid in color, and different in texture. Tomatoes, green peppers, pimientos, meats and cheese are flavorful additions. Crisp green salads add an excellent contrast. Fruit salads, carrot sticks, and sliced tomatoes all add flavor, color and texture.

Spaghetti De Luxe
2 cups spaghetti 1/4 C mushrooms
1 tsp butter 1 can tomato soup
1 onion, finely cut 1 cup cheese
1 green pepper, cut 1/2 cup olives
Cook spaghetti. Melt butter in pan, add onion, pepper, chopped olives and soup; heat. Add grated cheese, stir until melted. Pour over spaghetti. Bake in buttered casserole at 350 F thirty minutes. Serves 8.

Macaroni Loaf
1 cup macaroni 1 tbs parsley
1 cup bread crumbs 1 tsp onion
1 cup diced cheese 1 cup milk

"Set 'em up"

Like an eager dog on a leash, the train waits at the station—impatient to start its long transcontinental run. The carman swings his lantern from side to side above his head. There's a swish of air as the engineer sees the signal to "set 'em up." That's railroad language meaning "set air brakes"—one of the many Union Pacific safety operations.

Over its "strategic middle route," uniting the East with the Pacific Coast, Union Pacific transports thousands of service men and women.

Carloads of materials and supplies are shipped, east and west, to home-front markets and ocean ports. It's a tremendous job but despite the problems of manpower and maintenance it is being accomplished with remarkable efficiency.

By putting the brakes on unwise personal spending, by buying war bonds and saving them, we can help guard against depression, keep the wheels of industry running, and the avenues of opportunity open for individual enterprise and initiative.

Listen to "OUR AMERICA" radio program on National radio network every Sunday afternoon. Check your local newspaper for the time and station.
