TREATS APPRECIATED BY MEN AT CAMP RUFUS

The efforts of Sherman county communities to provide treats and recreational facilities for the men of the Army Engineers' camp at Rufus are really being appreciated. This is shown beyond a doubt by letters received during the past week by Mrs. Lewis Hastings of the Red Cross, and Mrs. Joe Hildebrand, both of Wasco. The letters, signed by Lt. A. D. Nelson, special service officer at the Rufus camp, are as follows:

Dear Mrs. Hildebrand:
In behalf of the men here at Rufus, I would like to thank you and the Red Cross of Wasco for your efforts in obtaining furniture and fittings for our day rooms. The articles you gave us last Friday, in addition to what is promised from other communities, will practically fill our rooms and make them quite liveable. Would you please convey our appreciation to all the people of Wasco who have done so much for us?

Dear Mrs. Hastings:
You completely overwhelmed us with your generosity last Saturday afternoon. I called the mess sergeant of every organization and distributed the cookies pro rata so that everyone would get an equal share. All weekend I have been hearing enthusiastic comments on the treat you gave us. Would you please thank the Wasco people for us and tell them how much their baking was appreciated?

FARM PRODUCTION BIG PROBLEM

The government expects farmers to again break crop records in 1945. Fred H. Sexauer, President of the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association, says the average age of farm operators is 59 years. They work 12 to 16 hours a day, 7 days a week, against industrial workers' 7 1/2 hours per day. Drafting most of the 18-to-25-year-old farm help will put a big question mark on new crop records. With worn-out machinery, and principally older men to do the job, we will be lucky if there is not a drop in farm production.

Five babies, all boys, were born at the Prineville General hospital between January 25 and 31.

In Other Days

From the Observer, Feb. 9, 1906
The ORN will build up Deschutes river from Deschutes City in this county to Bend, carrying the Biggs junction transfer of the C. S. railroad on down to the Deschutes junction.

J. M. Barnett of Wasco has macaroni seed wheat for sale. It is the only sure dry country wheat.

Constable W. A. Kentner of Kent was in town Monday on official business in connection with the burglary of the J. H. Bottemiller place of business.

W. E. Hines has sold his business at Biggs and when he can dispose of his Gilliam stock ranch will go to Texas.

From the Observer, Feb. 11, 1916
Are you fixing up your costume for the masquerade ball to be given at the Moro opera house on the 18th of February?

C. L. Powell became weary waiting for train service to resume on the Shaniko branch and used the Deschutes train to Orchard station and there borrowed a horse to climb the Harris grade to his home.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Peetz entertained Saturday evening at the farm south of Moro. Using two bob sleds, one a 6-horse and one a 4-horse, about fifty people attended from Moro.

O. E. Baker, farming the Bryant and Hansen place east of Monkland, tells by phone that the bridge went out Tuesday of this week.

From the Observer, Feb. 12, 1926
Goldendale put the skids under the Grass Valley basketball team by a score of 31-18.

Collis Moore was traveling about town this week with the aid of crutches. He received an accidental kick on the left leg when playing basketball last Friday, resulting in a ruptured blood vessel in the calf of his leg.

Mrs. Vernon Platt returned home Monday afternoon from a visit of about three months to her old home in North Dakota.

Funeral bells tolled three times on successive days the last week in January for Mr. and Mrs. Jake Douma and family, now residents of Tillamook, Ore. A cousin was drowned on Sunday, their infant daughter passed away on Monday and an uncle passed on Tuesday.

SNOW RUN-OFF CHECKED
Joe Belanger came Monday from Pendleton to check the run-off. He found that most of the moisture stayed in the ground and very little ran off. The snow was quite dry so not too much moisture was acquired from it.

action would hardly seem to warrant his optimism.

During senate discussion of reports that the Tydings amendment to the selective service law is being violated by the induction of farm boys in the army and navy it was disclosed that the number of men directly engaged in the production of foodstuffs is lower than at any time in the past 50 years. In 1944 the number of people on farms was 25,531,000, a decrease since 1940 of 4,748,000, and this at a time when farmers are being called upon for the greatest production in the nation's history.

The Tydings' amendment specifically states that "Every registrant found by a selective service local board to be necessary to and regularly engaged in an agricultural occupation shall be deferred from training and service in the land and naval forces so long as he remains so engaged and until such time as a satisfactory replacement can be obtained." Violations of this law was declared on the senate floor to be due to misinterpretation of instructions sent out by General Hershey, director of selective service.

HUSKIES LOST BY 1 POINT

The Moro Huskies went to Arlington last Friday night to play Arlington a very close game of basketball. The boys played a hard game all the way through and were ahead the biggest part of the game but in the last three minutes when Arlington made a basket which made the score 26-27, the margin of victory.

The boys will play them again at Grass Valley Saturday night. They will go to Maupin Friday night to meet the Redskins in two games.

Shortening on Ration List
Increased war needs have made it necessary for lard, shortening, salad and cooking oils to be restored to the ration list, too. Point values of two red points per pound have been set on each of these items to insure everyone getting his fair share. Margarine, which is used interchangeably with these items for cooking, has been raised to three points a pound, so it will still be available for housewives who use it as butter substitute on bread.

There are less sheep and lambs now in Oregon than at any time since 1880. Leaders of the Oregon Wool Growers association blame high production costs in the range sheep industry and inability to get enough competent herders at any price for the eastern Oregon reduction of 67 percent. In western Oregon, where farm flocks under fence predominate, a two percent increase was shown.

OSC HOMECOMING DROPPED IN FAVOR OF "YANK" AID

Oregon State College—Students here have called off their traditional homecoming celebration usually staged for visiting alumni, and instead will help send a bit more news of home to Oregon Staters in service throughout the world.

Confronted by the ban on travel that would keep alumni from coming to the campus, student committees decided to go ahead with scheduled festivities February 16 and 17 but on a strictly local basis and with all proceeds to be turned over to publishers of the "Oregon State Yank." This quarterly news.
