

Round-Up Beauty Queen

Pendleton, Aug. 3—Riding in the Indian section of the Pendleton Round-Up parades Sept. 12, 13, 14, and 15 will be lovely Delores Stevens, winner of the 1944 American Beauty contest at the Pendleton show.

Only at the Round-Up is such a contest held; it's for full-blood Indian girls, real American beauties, and one of the rules is that the winner may be queen only once. So Delores will not be in competition this year but will be accorded special honors as 1944 queen. The contest is a feature of Friday's show, when scores of Indian beauties ride before the grandstands for the approval of the judges. Contestants are judged not only for personal beauty, but for the splendor of their costumes and the elaborate trappings of their horses.

Purses at the thirty-fourth Pendleton Round-Up will total $10,000 and in addition top-hand cowboys will compete for the $5,000 sterling silver Sam Jackson trophy awarded all-around champion, $500 in war bonds offered by the Round-Up to the permanent winner of the Sam Jackson trophy, $300 in war bonds offered by Hamley & Co. saddlery for the winner of the steer roping, the $75 John Hamley gold and silver belt buckle for all-around champion, and the $75 gold and silver buckle offered by the Plymouth Cordage Co. of Massachusetts for the calf roping.

Bulk of the money goes for the five major events of the Round-Up—bronc riding, bulldogging, calf roping, steer roping and Brahma steer riding, each $1100. These events determine the winners of the Jackson trophy and Hamley buckle.

The Jackson trophy must be won three times for permanent possession and three cowboys, Ike Rude, Bill McMacken and Everett Bowman have two legs on the prize. Bowman has announced that he has retired from the rodeo game, so this year's strongest contenders for permanent possession and the $500 in bonds will be Rude and McMacken. With one win to his credit, Gene Rambo, young California cowboy, 1944 winner, will defend his title. All events at the Round-Up are governed by Rodeo Association of America rules.

Tea, Poi and Spaghetti Bowls

Joins Flying Club

Secretary of Commerce Henry A. Wallace, together with 91 members of congress, has seriously taken up flying. He is shown as he steps from cockpit of plane in which he was taking flying lessons for post-war flying days.

A man should never be ashamed to own he has been in the wrong, which is but saying in other words that he is wiser today than he was yesterday.

WASHING HURTS IT

Manufacturers say that more linoleum is scrubbed and soaked away than is worn away with ordinary use, says Miss Lutz, extension home management specialist at OSC in suggesting better care for these war-scarce floor coverings.

A linoleum floor kept well waxed may be kept clean with daily dusting with a dry mop and only occasional washing she says. Dirt tracked into the kitchen sometimes makes more frequent washing necessary, but wiping up anything spilled immediately will save much mopping.

If any soap is necessary Miss Lutz recommends a mild type rather than laundry soap, because the alkali from strong soap tends to dry out the oil in linoleum and makes it brittle. Gritty cleaners are to be avoided also as they scratch the surface and open the pores so grease and dirt works into the material.

FSA GETS MONEY

Allocations among the states and territories of half of the $50,000,000 authorized for the Farm Security Administration's tenant purchase loans for the next 12 months have been announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The remaining $25,000,000 is earmarked for loans to World War II veterans and will be made available wherever the demand for the loans occurs. The allocated funds distributed on the basis of farm population and the prevalence of tenancy, will be used in the regular FSA program under which loans are made to tenants, sharecroppers and farm laborers for the purchase of family-size farms. Congress increased these funds by $10,000,000 over last year.

The loans, made under the Bank head-Jones Farm Tenant Act of 1937, can cover the full purchase price of a family farm. They are repayable over a 60-year period and bear three percent interest on unpaid principal. One requirement applicants must meet to obtain a loan is inability to get adequate credit from other sources on reasonable terms. An exception to this is made only in the case of veterans who show a need for the type of vocational guidance offered by FSA.

From where a Tree Grows In

A gallant marine squired us home from the shag party last Tuesday nite. He hailed from Brooklyn. The moon shone beautifully and so did our escort. "Git a load of dem stars!" sez he. "Da sky is crummy wid 'em."

The second greatest Reason in the World

WHENEVER you are sorely tempted to cash in a War Bond—for whatever reason—think for a moment.

There are many great reasons why you should not cash in your Bonds before they mature—before they pay you back $4 for every $3 you've invested.

The first—and greatest—reason is that you are an American, and you have pledged yourself to back American fighting men with all your strength, courage and character.

The second greatest reason is that by cashing in Bonds you may be risking the future of your children.

For the War Bonds you keep today can spell the security of your child's tomorrow.

Don't depend on tomorrow to take care of itself. Remember—no job is as sure as your Bond. Don't cash in a single one before its time.
