DDT 50 pc. Wettable

The above is the title of the new super-duper lice and tick and fly killer. Cattle ticks and sheep ticks and also lice just die like Hiroshimians when it is present. And flies, Arden says it kills all kinds but bar. It is used as a spray for flies, a dip for lice.

The 50 percent DDT and that's about ten times the usual strength. The wetttable part means that its to be applied with water.

O yes, we forgot to say its for sale at

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Sam Hackney has a trade mark

Before Sam Hackney got successful, his wife used to make his bow ties for him. They came out in a loach longer than average—and Sam came in for a lot of ribbing. But he only smiled and took it.

Of course, Sam doesn't need to economize now; he's one of the best real estate men in the country. But he still wears those long bow ties. Prospective customers may not remember his name or his face, but the minute they see Sam, they say, "That's the feller!"

The bow ties work like a trade mark—something to remember and identify.

And Sam has another trade mark, too: the glass of beer he buys his client after every deal is settled. Sure, it's a friendly gesture... but more than that, it reminds Sam's clients that he's a man of moderation and good taste—dependable and temperate. Sam's no fool!
