FARMALL CUB FOR THE MOWING JOBS — International Harvester's new Farmall Cub tractor, intended to offer the small acreage farmer the advantage of complete, low mechanization and be most useful around the biggest farms, will handle field and garden crop operations. The little tractor and all machines intended for use with it, now in production, are considered to be farm equipment developments of far reaching importance. The need for low cost operation of farms led Harvester to develop the Farmall Cub and a full complement of quick attachable machines for more efficient farming.
