Foods Detrmine Fitness

Science produces miracles only when it is applied. We really do not know what "miracles" of health our scientific knowledge could produce if we applied it universally. Much educational work has been done in recent years in an effort to achieve wide application of our present knowledge of nutrition. Many individuals and families have benefited in our communities where nutrition classes have been held or where community nutrition service has been available.

Here is an opportunity for checking your own diet. If you can answer "yes" after all items in the following quiz you have good food habits. If not, there is room for improvement, and it is important to keep trying for a perfect score.

Do you eat these foods every day?

Milk - at least 2 cupfuls or enough cheese to take its place, they protect bones and teeth, and build muscles.

Citrus fruits or tomatoes - at least one serving. These are your main source of vitamin C which strengthens the blood vessels and is necessary for healthy gums and sound teeth.

Green or yellow vegetables - one big serving for the vitamin A and iron which helps guard against infections.
