Hydrants of the city are receiving a coat of yellow paint topped with a bright red this week, the result of a color scheme suggested by a councilman when the subject was up for discussion. The idea is that the red top will be easily seen in the daytime and the yellow will show up well at night. Marshal Axtell is doing the painting.

Mr and Mrs Karl Landstrom and daughter, Maris, were here over the week end from their home in Portland to visit with her parents, Mr and Mrs L. L. Peetz. Mrs A. H. Barnum accompanied them back to the city for a few days visit with her sons, Orville and Theodore and families. Ralph Brisbine went to The Dalles Monday and was formerly presented with his pin emblematic of working 30 years for the Pacific Power & Light company.

Mrs Olen McLachlan was over from Heppner the first of the week to get her household furniture moved around. She says they like their new place.

Wayne Thompson is home again after service in the army that kept him in Germany for many months after the need of the war.

Janet Schadewitz of Portland, one time of Moro, was elected as head of the girls council at the annual 4-H summer school at Corvallis last week.

Surplus Property Sales Larger

All records for sales of surplus property by the War Assets Administration were broken during May, with the Portland office doubling its April figures, according to word received today by C. T. Mudge, regional director. National reports show material costing the government $808,000,000 being disposed of during the month for $233,000,000 while Portland sold $1,923,105 worth of surplus for $970,163.

One of the main reasons for the increase was the sale of the Geneva Utah steel plant to the U. S. Steel Corporation, for which the government had paid $201,000,000. A decided increase in disposal of aircraft was also noted. Sales of consumer goods put $200 millions back into the treasury, and $150,000,000 was received for sales of producer and capital goods.
