

D. E. Stephens, Prof. E. G. Shafer Visit Station

D. E. Stephens and Prof. E. G. Shafer of Washington State college, were here Wednesday to inspect the local experiment station and interested in the crops of this section which he found to be excellent.

Born: To Mr and Mrs Lester Lee in Portland July 13, a daughter, Diane Margaret, weight 6 lb. 12 oz.

Mr and Mrs Darwin Van Gilder attended the funeral of Jack McMillan Tuesday afternoon in Wasco.

Carrell Bennett, former employee of the local branch of the First National Bank, will return to work there August 15, when his transfer from The Dalles branch become effective.

Mrs Merle Becket left Sunday for Monmouth to begin a two weeks course in teacher training preparatory to teaching the third and fourth grades in the Moro school next September. Merle and Paul are batching.

Herb Maricle arrived Saturday night to visit some old friends and see some old scenes. He owned the place now occupied by John Conroy 39 years ago when he moved to Canada which has been his home. He has now returned to Vancouver, B.C. He is an uncle of Giles French.

Lloyd Johnson suffered burns on his face and left arm last Friday about noon when gas in his oven exploded as he went to light it. Hasty first aid and dressing by Mrs Arden Squire made it possible for him to get about within a day or two.

Kenneth G. Martin, administrator of Oregon's Bond campaign during the later drives, accompanied by his son, Kenneth L.

Martin and H. C. Oaks of Los Angeles stopped in Moro briefly Tuesday afternoon while on their way to Bend on a fishing trip. Oaks was much impressed with the beauty of the Sherman county wheat crop.

Mr and Mrs Charles Powell came up Monday to stay during most of the harvest season and Mr and Mrs Elmer Barzee came up Sunday for the same purpose.

Ben Taylor of Antelope went through town Tuesday afternoon bound for his ranch there. Ben says he is about sold out of land now, being down to 37,000 acres including the old Bennett place.

Mr and Mrs Darwin Van Gilder, Mr and Mrs Collins Moore, Mrs Giles French and Dell Olds went to Sandy Sunday to pick blackberries, a trip that resulted in some succulent pies both immediately and in the future. Mrs French remained until Monday at the D.H. Huhman home, returning in company with Mrs Dell Olds, who had been a guest at the Huhman home since Friday.

William Cautners returned to Moro from his work on the state highway oiling crew last week and has been in poor health since his arrival.

Mr and Mrs Grover Coffman will leave Saturday for Pendleton to be present at the wedding of Mrs Coffman's daughter, Virginia.

Farm Accidents Take High Toll

SAN FRANCISCO, July 4.—(AP)—Major clinic doctors told the American Medical Association today that one-fourth of all persons killed in U.S. occupational accidents in 1944 were farmers. They said death and injury in agriculture is spreading, yet still is being done about it.

OREGON STATE COLLEGE

Though Oregon is believed to have a better record for farm safety than the national average, farm accidents exact a steady toll from both children and adults in this state, as these sample headlines taken from Oregon papers this summer reveal. The Oregon committee to promote the observance of the 1946 National Farm Safety Week, headed by Dean and Director Wm. A. Schoenfeld, is pointing out that farming is a hazardous occupation and is urging all members of farm families to be "alert today and alive tomorrow."
