UC Payments Up

For the second successive month Oregon's payments to unemployed workers in November were lower than for the corresponding period in 1943. Last month's state benefits were $443,241, a decrease of 38 percent from November last year, the unemployment commission reported.

Service men without jobs received $395,945, about 13 percent more than in October, while the self employed were paid $169,427, an increase of 22 percent over the previous month.

Although about 110,000 veterans have returned to Oregon as compared with 50,000 at this time last year, weekly unemployment claims remain around 10,000; considerably below last winter's early average. Recent reports to the state's employment service show around 275,000 covered jobs nearly 40,000 higher than a year ago.

GRANGERS SHAPE THE PATTERN of OREGON'S DEVELOPMENT

You may be surprised at the size of Oregon's dairying industry. But Grangers aren't. The value of the state's dairy products last year is estimated by the U.S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics at $40,657,000—money from milk that flows through every trading level to every Oregonian. Through the years, the Grange has worked for a bigger and better dairying industry as one phase of its program to build a greater commonwealth by strengthening its most important foundation—agriculture. Thirty thousand Oregon Grange members—all forward-thinking farmers—strive constantly for agricultural progress. This, they know, shapes the pattern of Oregon's development the right way, because what helps the farmer helps every Oregonian.

- Grange achievements that have made Oregon a better state in which to live:
- ✓ R. F. D. Routes
 - ✓ Direct Election of Senators
 - ✓ Cooperative Marketing
 - ✓ Better Roads
 - ✓ Improvements in Education
 - ✓ Graduated Income Tax
 - ✓ Improved Marketing
 - ✓ Low-Cost Light and Power
