HIGH COSTS EYED IN FARM OUTLOOK ANALYZED BY O.S.C.

Both farm prices and farm costs have advanced sharply in the past year, it is shown in the annual outlook analysis for spring planted annual and perennial crops just issued by the agricultural extension service at O.S.C.

The outlook report contains sections on grain and hay crops, potatoes and truck crops, forage crop seeds, tree fruits and nuts and some other specialty crops. Although some farm products declined in price, others advanced to bring the general level up 24 percent during the year, reaching 246 percent of the 1935-1939 level in anuary.

During the same period the general level of farm costs in Oregon rose 11%. Farm wage rates in the state were 354 percent of the 1935-39 average, while the United States average of other farm costs stood at 168 percent of the pre-war level. By giving labor a

Kent Legion Met Saturday For Supper

The George Bell Post of the American Legion and the Ladies Auxiliary met Saturday evening, March 15. An oyster supper was given for the Legionaires, their weight of 25 per cent it appears that the general level of all Oregon farm costs is about 215% of 1935-1939. This is significant in view of the outlook for lower farm prices during the 1947-1948 marketing season.

By adjusting farm operations some farmers may hold net farm income up in 1947-48, but on the whole it is probable that net farm incomes from 1947 production will not be as great as from farm marketing during the 1946-47 season the report states. The volume of production is expected to continue large, but demand, both domestic and foreign, is expected to weaken somewhat.

The report contains several tables and charts of basic data, including figures showing the relationship between the national disposal income and the farm value of foods. Another table shows the 1946 level of production of various farm products in percentage of 1935-1939 output. A copy is available free from any county agent or from the college.
