IN UNION THERE IS STRENGTH

Aesop had a story for it. He usually had a story for everything and appropriate ones, too, that's the reason his name and his fables are remembered to this day.

But one day the bullocks fell to quarrelling among themselves. It is not recorded the reason why, and each bullock went to a separate corner of the pasture because he didn't want to associate with the others.

Which is preliminary to saying that back a number of years ago when the state had 500,000 people, Sherman county had 4000 of them. Now the state has 1,200,000 and Sherman county has 2000.

On selling side we produce more now than ever, but the competition for our crop is less keen since the government handles most of it in one way or another.

More social events on a county wide basis, more consideration of problems as a county would lead to improvements and more secure standing.

ENFORCED RETIREMENT

Publication of the list of teachers and others at Oregon State who must retire on account of the 1945 retirement law suggests the impropriety of any statute that puts retirement on an age basis.

Some men are incapacitated at 50 and unable to do a full day's work, many go on until 80 with all faculties intact and active.

Probably there should be a retirement plan for the state as well as for other employers of many persons. But compulsory retirement is not necessary nor should retirement funds be enforced.

There is considerable doubt as to the legality of the state taking up the county school fund. The law says: "It is the expressed intention of this act that the revenue derived from the tax shall reduce by corresponding amount the direct levy which the tax commission would otherwise apportion to the several counties of the state."

WASHINGTON NEWS

The National Farmers union has adopted a resolution in which President Truman's program for assistance to Greece and Turkey is denounced as a "witch hunt."

Pay raises along granted postal employees last year amounted to $351,000,000. All materials used by the department have steadily increased in price such as paper, string, rent, etc.

The department of agriculture estimates the 1947 winter wheat crop at 973,947,000 bushels. This figure is an increase of better than 50 percent over the 1936-1945 average yield and 100,000,000 bushels better than last year's record crop.

That brave bunch of tax reducers of the north western states no spoke and wrote of the necessity of tax reduction by the federal government are now hoist on their own petard.

Nothing seems to excite people like crickets. Whenever they approach humans get some sort of hysteria which is not allayed by the excitement newspapers pour into such an occasion.

In Other Days

From the Observer, May 22, 1908
C. H. Tom is building a fine large barn on his home farm in the north end.

Now the walls are going up at the rebuilding of the Opera house ruin and that corner will soon again hum with new business.

Sunday last was the first time in many months that Mr and Mrs C. K. Cochran, and their little boy, have been able to be out together.

Preparations are now being made for a united effort of all Sherman county for a grand, old fashioned picnic and celebration, July 4th, at DeMoss Springs.

Wednesday morning they commenced to pour concrete for the elevator pit, much lumber has already arrived.

After the oratorical contest next Friday evening the band will have charge and give a dance.

A decade ago saw the beginning of Sherman county's custom of holding annually the grand finale in competitor in athletic forensics on the last day of school.

From the Observer, May 25, 1928
Wednesday evening about six o'clock Ben Hockman, driver for the Union Oil company at Wasco, escaped death by a fractional inch when riding down the Dermid hill on the Sherman highway.

An unusual social event for three families in this vicinity this week was a joint celebration of the wedding anniversary of three couples who were married on the same day, May 24th, but at varying year dates.

Mrs Margaret McCallum died early Monday morning at the home of her daughter, Mr J. F. Poes, in Moro on May 21. She was more than 81 years old.

Advertisement for Joe Marsh. It features a portrait of a man and the text: 'From where I sit... by Joe Marsh. When Ed's Crops Failed. Three years ago Ed Smith's luck went bad. His crops failed, and it wasn't long before Ed's home and furnishings were up for auction. Half the town turned out, and Ed must have thought his neighbors were a bunch of hungry vultures—buying up all his precious possessions for a song. When it was over, and the auctioneer had led, Sam Abernathy came to the crowd and says: "All right, folks, let's take time out for a glass of beer, and then put this stuff back where it belongs!" Two hours later, Ed was in possession of his home and furnishings; and the folks who'd paid for them were sitting around Ed's fire enjoying a neighborly glass of beer—to show their friendship and their confidence in Ed. Today, Ed's back on his feet—another constructive member of the community. And from where I sit, we've all been well repaid—a good investment in a good man.
