If Oregon is to have the telephone service it needs

If the people of Oregon are to have the amount and kind of telephone service they are demanding and should be furnished, we must have enough price relief to meet current wages and costs and to keep our credit sound.

Our price levels in Oregon have lagged far behind general price levels. The increase in revenues granted last January, the first increase in over a quarter of a century, averaged only 9 1/2 per cent. We wish we could pay postwar prices for all that we buy and charge only slightly more than prewar prices for what we have to sell but this is impossible.

Our earnings in Oregon, including the rate revisions granted last January, won't do the job. Current earnings on the dollars invested in Oregon are less than half of what are needed to do the job.

Between now and the end of next year we should spend $26,500,000 to enlarge and improve the telephone system to meet the needs of the people of Oregon. To do this we must go to investors for money. Investors are alike in one thing—they put their dollars where they can expect safety and a fair return.

To provide a fair return, we are filing new rate schedules with the Public Utilities Commissioner of Oregon.
