TIME TO SAVE ELECTRICITY!

4:30 to 6:30 PM every workday

Grandfather knows the wisdom of saving. He knows, too, that electric savings are urgently needed between 4:30 and 6:30 p.m., when all power systems are overloaded. They're overloaded because it now gets dark early, and lights go on everywhere while businesses and industries are still operating. Winter days will cause a serious peak-hour problem until big new power plants can be built. Every electric saving helps. Bake in your electric range before 4:30... turn off lights and appliances not actually in use... shut off electric heaters during the critical hours... wash dishes and take baths after 6:30.

Protect your own electric service, keep industries going. Please save electricity during the critical hours, 4:30-6:30 every workday afternoon.
