feet of frost can remain the record for a long time without complaint from anyone, not even those who always want to break a record.

HUSKIES TAKE MADRAS SCALP
Keith Thompson hit the net four times from the floor as well as three times from the foul line to take high point honors.

This win places the Huskies against Fossil, No. 1 team of the Wheeler-Gilliam section, at 3:30 February 24 in the 6-B tournament at Arlington. Fossil has defeated the Moro team 36 to 27 at Grass Valley early in the season and 29 to 27 at Fossil earlier this month. The continued improvement shown by the Huskies should result in an excellent performance though pitted against probably the strongest team in the tournament the first night in single elimination.

To date, Coach Gordon Kunke's charges have turned in a record of eight wins to 10 losses against some pretty stiff competition.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON
Eugene (Special)—Dr. Kenneth S. Latourette, oriental historian, has been named this year's Condon lecturer by the University of Oregon lecture committee. Dr. Latourette will give a series of three lectures on the Eugene campus, in Portland, and at Oregon State college during March. The Condon lectures were established in 1944 upon the recommendation of the late Dr. John C. Merriam and named for the university's first professor of geology, Dr. Thomas Condon. The lecturer makes an attempt to acquaint the layman with scientific research.

Miss Katie Geiser has been employed by Mrs. Mae Reid as a clerk and bookkeeper in her store at Wasco.

HISTORY SHERMAN COUNTY PRESENTED

Another theory is that they crossed at the mouth of Buckhollow where the river is rapid enough to be called a falls and then pulled up the steep hill to Tygh Ridge.

Diaries so far consulted do not make the exact place clear.

Of the thousands who trekked across this land of bunchgrass, not one family, not one man is known to have stopped to build a house, or even to dig a dug-out in which to spend the winter.

The emigrants were bound for the timbered valley, and they finished the trip, or as some did, died in the attempt.

The memory of the vast grass covered hills remained with some of those who travelled through them and some, used to the wide expanses of the northwest territory states of Ohio, Illinois, and of Iowa felt cramped in the tall firs along the Willamette. They soon wanted to return.

The Indians wars of the fifties and sixties kept many away from eastern Oregon. Blue clay U.S. Cavalry made trails across the county when pursuing hostile Indians, trappers followed its streams in search of furs, explorers found its fertile valleys.

The discovery of gold in California inspired the search for it all through the west. There was need for communication and transportation around the settlement around the army camp at The Dalles and Walla Walla and so, as more men travelled over the land, interest in it also grew.

Settlement spread out up the creeks near The Dalles where there was protection from the Indians. William Graham, probably the first settler in Sherman county, had a sort of a station at the Deschutes river crossing in 1858. In the federal census of 1860, he is listed in the Deschutes precinct of the then expansive Wasco county as William Graham, native of Ohio, age 45, occupation: hotel keeper. He had his family, Harriet, 44, born in Pennsylvania and Robert, 15, John 13, Mary 11, Josephine 10, Frances 6, Zella 4 and Thom as six months, the first born in Ohio, the next three in Missouri and the others in Oregon. There were some others listed who may or may not have been permanent residents as their occupations were that of trader, wagon masters and such other roving trades.

These first settlers were men who made their livelihood either from those who travelled across the county in search of gold or furs or by the raising of livestock. The hotel keepers and stage drivers perhaps made the most secure living for the demand for cattle was limited and a hide was worth as much as the meat.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh.

How's Your Listening Time?

Buck Howell and I were in Baleville last week. Dropped in at Bob's diner where some friends were sitting around talking about whether to sell hogs now or wait.

Buck plunges right into the discussion. He's lecturing away when suddenly they all stand up and start stomping their feet like it was an Indian war dance.

I'm flabbergasted. But Buck only looked sheepish and explains, "Guess I was talking again, when I should-of been listening. When a person's talking time gets out line with his listening time around here, the gang reminds him by standing up and stomping."

From where I sit, that's a good system. Everyone has a right to his opinions—but others have a right to theirs, too—whether it's deciding between to sell or not to sell, apple pie or cherry pie, or a glass of mellow beer or cider. Life's more interesting that way, and hang it if you don't sometimes learn something!
