

Moro

W. S. Powell and his daughter, Mrs. Opal Parkins, returned from Portland Sunday coming by way of the south Santiam pass, the only one that was really open that day. They made the trip without chains.

Miss Evelyn Christianson went to The Dalles last Thursday and entered a hospital there later in the week.

Senator Phil Hitchcock of Klamath Falls stopped briefly in Moro Wednesday while on his way to Pendleton to address a Presbyterian church group.

Van Reitmann of Condon was in Sherman county Wednesday afternoon to enlist aid for the continued improvement of the Cottonwood road which the highway commission has agreed to consider in the 1950-51 construction program.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul May went to Portland Monday and returned Tuesday night, and found the going rough in spots.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ginn came home by way of Wipinitia pass one day early this week and thought the going was pretty dangerous.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Thompson and children left Thursday for Pendleton to attend a range meeting there before going on to a 4-H club leaders meeting at LaGrande. They will be gone about a week.

Mrs. Lloyd Johnson and children returned home from The Dalles after being snow bound in that city for over a week. She was visiting her sister, Mrs. Dave Ransier and family.

Earl Gentry came home from his trip to Tennessee the night of the big storm and had a hard time making the last mile. He had to walk and wasn't dressed for walking in a blizzard. He drove a new car back from Michigan.

David Moore has been ill with the flu and is staying at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Moore.

URANIUM TYCOON . . . Holding samples of the precious stuff is Boris Pregel, reputedly the uranium king of the world. A czarist Russian who has lived in exile in France and the United States, he was one of the first to predict importance of uranium in atom research.

The annual meeting of the Community church has been postponed until February 5 when it will be held immediately after the morning sermon. A potluck dinner will be served and the meeting held.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Amidon are missing the Sherman county snow and watching it snow in Seattle.

Terry Bucholtz is staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Belshee so he can attend school easier during the bad weather.

The Sherman County club's annual social gathering will be February 12, from two until five p. m. in the Imperial hotel. The whole family will be more than welcome.

Mrs. Millard Meizer and infant son came home from the hospital Tuesday.

Eleanor Fox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Fox of Wasco, has been pledged to Kappa Delta, national social sorority. She is a junior, enrolled in business and technology at OSC.

ABOUT THE COUNTY

Kent basketball team will meet the Wasco grade team at Kent on next Tuesday, January 31, at 1:15 p. m.

Miss Marion Buchanan attended a meeting of the OEA salary schedule committee which was held at the court house in Moro Saturday afternoon.

A committee for the setting up of criteria to be used in selecting language arts textbooks for the coming year met in the office of the county school superintendent Saturday afternoon with Eugene Knott of Kent as chairman. Other committee members were Mrs. Catherine Sonenberg, Grass Valley; Mrs. Shelley Roberson, Moro; Mrs. Doris Ellis, Moro; and Verne Larson, Wasco. The group studied material dealing with the language arts group which is composed of reading, writing, spelling and English, and made suggestions regarding the forthcoming curriculum which were to be sent to the State Department of Education.

Rufus school opened its doors again Monday morning after being closed all last week. George Jr. and Jimmy Fox had to use their saddle ponies to make it to the place where they catch the school bus. Luther Steward bus driver, and Joe Morris, chairman of the school district, drove the school bus around the route Sunday to see if they could make it alright before they got all the children on the bus. The roads were muddy and soft but no real difficulties were encountered.

It was colder Monday, after being so warm Sunday. Sunday the temperature was around 40 degrees above zero while Monday night it was 28 degrees above zero. A driving wind accompanied the cold. Perhaps this is just as well, as it will slow up the thawing process and let the moisture have time to go down in the earth.

The snow plows got around in this vicinity Friday, so a good many had to try out the roads Saturday by going into town. The freezing rain which fell last week has made a crust on the snow making further drifting of the old snow impossible. Frank Medler got tired of staying cooped in within the house walls during the storm. Saturday, with but a short delay on the road, he made it into The Dalles where he plans to stay until the ground hog comes forth.

The ice left the John Day river about noon Sunday. The river was frozen over with the ice about six inches in thickness. What a crackling sound it makes as the ice chunks break off, then as it comes down the river the chunks are ground to bits. The big chunks are pushed up on the river banks, making a well, and it will take quite awhile before they melt away. James Fox said he saw a beaver on a chunk of ice as it went by his place which is located beside the river. The beaver was jumping from cake to cake of ice not seeming to be very worried. It is not known the actual fate of this beaver, but it is thought he went over the dam on the Fox place and probably ground to pieces with the ice.

Quails and small birds were found dead around the grounds and barns unable to stand the cold.

Bill Maenab got down to the Leland Medler place Monday to get his daughter Kay who had been a guest there while her mother was in The Dalles. Also a guest there was Miss Arlene Maenab; Arlene first got the chicken pox then Kay and the two Medler children, Douglas and Barbara, had them at the same time, but the children are all over them now, and are fine.

WANTED: A HOUSE AND HUBBY . . . Mrs. Jean Ziolkowski's advertisement in a Ravenna, Ohio, newspaper brought 12 quick proposals of marriage—all rejected. The 27-year-old divorcee wants a man with a house in which she can shelter her two children. She also requires that he earn at least $70 a week. Here, she answers an application by telephone as her daughters, Sharon Rose, 4, and Patricia, 7, wait. This family, looking for a father, lives in Cleveland.

Mrs. Grace Medler who had gone to Portland before the storm hit, made it home during the storm, but after a delay.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Yocum and Mr. and Mrs. William Huck were dinner guests Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Engberg.

All bulls entered in the sale will be graded first with those grading A or better going on for placings. This will be most helpful to all livestock breeders and especially to those who are getting their first start in the Shorthorn industry. It is felt by many in the livestock industry that grading of bulls is especially beneficial to the range and commercial breeder.

Females in the show will be judged by two prominent Shorthorn breeders selected by the sales committee.

Joe Johnson, Oregon State college, Corvallis, and Herman Oliver, John Day, have been asked to do the grading.

Auctioneer will be Norman G. Warsinske, Billings, Montana. Sales committee consists of

It did warm up a day or so and maybe thawed most of the ice in the watering trough, but its down to zero again and that ice cold water shrinks a cows stomach so, fast, it makes her hair stand on end. She may look bigger but she's getting smaller.

There's a cure for 'watering trough shakes'. It is one of our tank heaters, electric or oil, and either will make a trip to the trough as pleasant for a cow as a cup of hot coffee for a man.

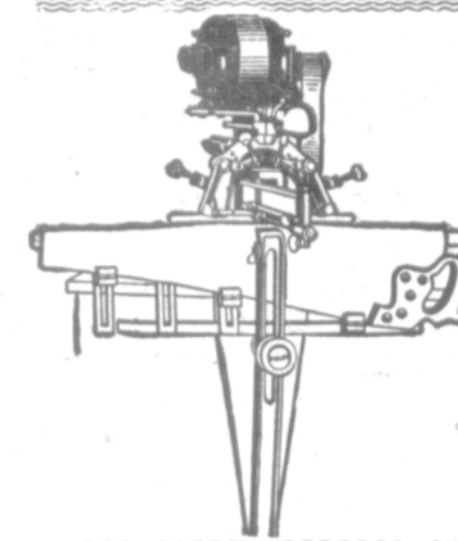

We would like to show them to you and wish we could show them to the cows.
