Kent Schools Going Again

The Kent grade school reopened Wednesday morning with only two busses able to cover their routes and with several pupils absent. A total of ten school days has been lost since the first of January due to snow blocked roads.

The basketball game between Wasco and Kent grade school scheduled for last Tuesday was postponed until February 4 at Kent at 1:15 in the afternoon.

The 4-H girls' sewing club met Thursday afternoon with the leader, Mrs. Mary McKay and nine members in attendance. During the meeting Mrs. McKay demonstrated the proper method of darning a stocking to the girls. Plans were made for a candy sale to be held at the next school assembly. Plans were also made for a party during the next meeting which will be held at the leader's home on January 11 in honor of Nancy Decker's birthday.

An assembly will be held January 16 at the Kent grade school auditorium at 10:45 a.m. One feature of the program will be the intermediate and upper grades singing two part harmony in "Slumber Song." Parents and friends are invited to attend.

WHY--A New Farm Program

The Agriculture Act of 1949 extended the support program of 90% of parity for wheat to include the 1950 crop. The high government loan support program has been continued since the war as a temporary relief in aiding the re-adjustment of the agriculture economy to post-war conditions. In his opening speech to Congress, the President of the United States recognized the shortcomings of present farm legislation and urged the approval of the "Brannan Plan". Since it is apparent that present agriculture legislation is temporary and will be changed, the wheat producers in Oregon would like to have a voice in determining what national program is finally adopted.

Looking forward to the time when a permanent program is adopted, the wheat growers in Oregon through the Wheat Growers League have for more than seven years, been developing in cooperation with the Pacific Northwest Farm Council the self-supporting certificate plan for wheat.

Along with other segments comprising national economy, American agriculture is faced with more complex problems than ever before. The Department of Agriculture's endeavors through the establishment of a Federal Farm Program have been comparatively successful in the maintaining of a high farm income and a balanced economy for the nation. This we believe essential and applaud all efforts which have this end in mind. It is recognized, as history emphatically verifies, depressions arise when farm prices reach such a low point that buying power is reduced. It is agriculture's responsibility and that of all organizations which have farming interests at heart, to develop and support programs which protect that national economy. Labor and industry are highly organized, which emphasizes that agriculture must also be strong. These three groups, labor, industry and agriculture must not be divided in their goals—they are interwoven and dependent upon each other. And there can never be a sound and healthy economic condition when anyone of these three has a crippling advantage over the others: We must maintain agriculture on a par with labor and industry; if we are unable to do this, we are shirking our responsibility not only to the farmer but to all the people who make up this great nation.

While Federal assistance to agriculture has become necessary, it must be realized that both labor and industry have had legislative assistance for a long time. Where it is essential to the national economy to provide financial assistance to agriculture, we should consider the program in light of an insurance premium to guarantee a healthy, long-lived agriculture.

We favor the continuance of the policy of maximum production geared to economic use of the nation's wheat lands, by the enactment of a bill providing for the income certificate plan for wheat. This plan was presented at hearings held by the Agricultural committee of the House by a Wheat League delegation last year with favorable acceptance. They requested more detailed information and asked the Wheat League to prepare a bill which has now been drafted and is available to all growers for their analysis and comments.

Our proposed income certificate bill is a direct and simplified approach to what we believe to be a sound long-range program for wheat producers. This action by our League is consistent with action taken for several years by the wheat farmers of Oregon. Discussion of our plan with wheat organizations of other states gives assurance that support of the major part of the wheat growers of the United States may be expected. National Legislation of such an important nature can not be secured on the spur of the moment. The Wheat League has a reputation for persevering until its aims are accomplished. Genuine progress has been made in preparing the way for the legislation we have consistently recommended. We urge Wheat Growers to take such aggressive action as will secure enactment of the wheat income certificate plan.

In view of the fact that it will not be possible to secure the enactment of such legislation immediately, we recommend that in the meantime the Oregon Wheat Growers League give support to a program providing 90% of parity for wheat as long as acreage allotments are in effect. This should not be construed to mean that we favor a high support policy over a long period of time, but merely in the interim until the income certificate or other satisfactory plan for wheat is realized.
