40 YEARS AGO, when Pacific Power & Light started in business, washday was drudgery day! Electricity cost about 15¢ per kilowatt-hour, and was used mainly for lighting. Many Pacific Northwest communities had small local power plants which operated only from dusk to midnight. A big job lay ahead for pioneering Pacific Power & Light!

TODAY cheap electricity does the wash in short order. Upstairs and downstairs, electric appliances make life easier for the housewife. For 40 years, PP&L has been promoting new uses for electricity, improving service, reducing rates. Today homes served by PP&L use an average of 4,364 kilowatt-hours a year, at an average price of only 1.44¢ a kWh!

Progressive American business keeps bringing you better electric living... at bargain electric rates!
